HENRY BEATTIE, JR., IS FOUND GUILTY

OPEN REBELLION IS THREATENED IN MAIL SERVICE

Two Lone Inspectors Delegated to Do Important Work of Reorganization.

SPY SYSTEM DOMINATION SERIOUSLY OBJECTED TO

Demoralization Results From Hitchcock's Methods---Runs Have Been Changed, Cars Cut Down in Size and Experienced Men Have Been Laid Off.

Two lone inspectors, Messrs. Beatey and Cisler, have been delegated by the postoffice department to reorganize the railway mail service in this division.

The work has been taken out of the hands of the superintendents, examiners and chief clerks, who know the territory, and placed in the hands of two men from the inspectors' department. Neither of the two, it is said, has had any practical extensive experience in handling railway mail. Both came from other sections.

One of the inspectors was a carrier before being promoted in a middle western city several years ago. The other used to run as mail clerk on a compartment car between Denver and Fort Worth, not in the least a job that affords the varied experience an expert is supposed to have had.

Demoralization Rampant.

The work of the two inspectors reorganizing the division and instituting "economy" has brought about the demoralization which has been incumbering the mail service recently. Runs have been changed. Cars have been cut down in size. Experienced men have been laid off and others reduced—all by directions of the two inspectors who rank in authority above everybody except the postmaster general himself.

The reorganization has been going on for some time, and it is said to be far from complete now. However, on authority absolutely reliable, it has disorganized the service as was never done before.

The men affected have not dared make protest. At the beginning one or two tried that, for the regulations give them the right to bring matters affecting their standing in the service to the attention of the postmaster general. They learned it did not pay. They were "demoted" further, or suspended.

The case of one man was told in The Constitution Friday. He was regarded as one of the most expert men in the service. When John Wanamaker was postmaster general, he gave that man a prize for exceptional efficiency.

The "Explanation."

In "reorganizing" the service, the inspectors recommended that his pay be cut from $1,800 to $1,500. He asked the postmaster general for an explanation. The answer was an order taking him from the desk position he had held for years and putting him on the road.

The trouble has reached the point

SENTENCING OF BEATTIE CLIMAX OF COURT DRAMA

Court Tells Young Husband That His Sordid Acts Had Stained Not Only His Own Life, But That of the Community.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., September 8.—Judge Watson delivered an impressive speech to Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., convicted wife murderer.

He told how the young man had stained his own life and that of the community in which he lived by his sordid acts. When the trial first began, said Judge Watson, he had hoped that Virginia might be cleared of the crime for which not only the state felt shame, but which the entire country deprecated. He had hoped that counsel would prove the defendant innocent, but the evidence, he regretted to note, was all convincing and overwhelming.

"The court in this trial," said Judge Watson, "has endeavored in all its decisions to lean toward the side of the prisoner, and in its charge to the jury as well attempted to give him the benefit of every doubt and every opportunity to establish his innocence. The rulings mostly have been not on matters of law, but on small questions of fact.

A Fair and Impartial Trial.

"You have had a fair and impartial trial, Mr. Beattie, and the jury has done what is considers its duty. Therefore, you have been convicted of murder in the first degree, and on November 24, between the hours of sunrise and sunset you must forfeit your life to the community. May God have mercy on your soul."

A moment later, by the side of his father and his brother, Douglass, their heads bowed in grief, walked young Beattie in the darkness toward his cell, a hundred yards away.

But the drama of the day was not over. A sharp report and a flash rent the thick blackness outside.

"My God!" exclaimed Judge Watson, as though his mind flitted the same thought that startled hundreds around him.

But it was not another tragedy. The prisoner was seen walking calmly on. The detention was an unusually heavy charge of a photographer's flash light.

Beattie Weeps In Cell.

The crowd lingered at the jail and peered into the cell, illuminated by a single lamp. On the bed, with his head in his hands, sat Beattie, his father and brother beside him. Jailer Cogbill sent the curious away. Only a few saw the prisoner break down and weep in the solitude of the cell.

An hour later the hamlet was deserted. A few hundred yards away from the stone jail in a small hotel twelve men gathered their belongings in silence, and one by one they drove away into the darkness to the simple homes from which for a fortnight they had been absent.

BEULAH BINFORD PASSED UP BY THEATRICAL PROMOTER

New York, September 8.—The local theatrical promoter who brought Beulah Binford to this city to exploit her on the stage has abandoned the idea.

"I've made up my mind to pass the girl up," he said this afternoon.

The promoter declared certain Richmond lawyers had interested him in the girl as a theatrical venture. He said they had one of their clerks conduct negotiations and they were to get a percentage of the girl's earnings.

The Binford girl posed for motion pictures this afternoon on Staten Island.

NEITHER SIDE WAS WILLING TO CALL BEULAH BINFORD

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., September 8.—Beulah Binford, the girl of the underworld, the woman in the Beattie case, whose relations with young Beattie furnished a dominating feature of the prosecution's case, did not figure as a witness during the trial. Neither side was willing to call her.

Immediately upon her release from the jail where she had been held for possible testimony, she disappeared from Chesterfield, hurried to New York, and almost at the hour when the jury was registering its verdict that carried the penalty of electrocution for her quondam companion, she was posing for motion pictures at Staten Island and nursing theatrical ambitions.

About the Binford girl the prosecution centered in finding a motion for Beattie's crime, the young husband's infidelity being apparent. The commonwealth spared no pains to delve deep into the underworld to unearth his sordid acts. He met Beulah Binford frequently at low dives in Richmond and at other places. The jury took this into account.

COL. ASTOR AND MISS FORCE TO BE MARRIED BY CARPENTER

Providence, R. I., September 8.—Although he declared he had not been definitely engaged to officiate, Edwin S. Straight, a carpenter of East Providence, who is a venerable retired minister of the Baptist denomination, said tonight he believes he will perform the wedding ceremony for Colonel John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeline Force, of New York. Mr. Straight, discussing the matter on his return home tonight, from his day's work at the carpenter's bench, said he was approached last Tuesday by Richard B. Comstock, of Providence, a lawyer, who has "sounded" several ministers in Rhode Island, as to their willingness to officiate at Colonel Astor's wedding. Mr. Straight told Mr. Comstock, as he informed reporters today, that he will marry "anybody with a license," and that he has no objection to performing the marriage ceremony in a case where one of the parties has been divorced.

Man of Patriarchial Appearance.

According to the clergyman, he has had more than one conference with Attorney Comstock regarding the matter, and while he is not certain he will perform the ceremony, it is his belief that he will. He said he had made an appointment with Mr. Comstock to go to Newport within a few days, but he could not say just what he would do there. He declined to say whether he was going to Newport tomorrow.

Mr. Straight is 70 years old, and his beard gives him somewhat of a patriarchial appearance. Thirty years ago he was pastor of a small Baptist church, and at times since then, he has supplied various country pulpits. Recently, he has devoted himself almost exclusively to carpentering, though he has occasionally officiated at a marriage or a funeral.

In connection with the report from New York that Colonel Astor's yacht, Homa, was being supplied for a long voyage, Mr. Straight was asked as to the extent of his jurisdiction for performing a marriage ceremony. He said his authority does not extend outside of Rhode Island, but he can officiate anywhere in this state, or, if necessary, on board a vessel within the "three-mile limit."

Sets No Price.

"It is my custom never to set any price on my services for performing a marriage," Mr. Straight said. "I am willing to take as little or as much as is freely given me. I think the Rev. F. Louis Brooks, of Little Compton, and the Rev. Edward A. Johnson, of Newport, who are said to have turned down offers of $1,000 each to perform the ceremony, were very foolish."

Despite many reports to the contrary, it was learned definitely tonight that neither Colonel Astor nor anybody acting for him had taken out a marriage license in Newport. Although the new Rhode Island marriage laws provide for a five-day service before a marriage license may be issued, it was said at Newport that under certain conditions, Colonel Astor might be able to get a license tomorrow morning if he or anybody acting for him had previously answered certain preliminary questions, which would not necessarily be a matter of record.

No information regarding the expected marriage could be obtained tonight from any representative of Mr. Astor.

Off on Week-end Cruise.

New York, September 8.—Colonel John Jacob Astor, accompanied by his fiance, Miss Madeline Force, and her father, William H. Force, sailed from here late this afternoon on Colonel Astor's yacht, Noma, for what it was announced, would be another week-end cruise on Long Island sound.

Statements made by Colonel Astor just before he embarked indicated that his marriage would not take place within three or four days at least, and set at rest scores of rumors afloat today. The colonel categorically denied one report that the marriage had already been performed secretly in Connecticut.

Colonel Astor also denied that the Noma would make a cruise to Bermuda. The present expedition, he said, was merely a fishing party, and the party would return to New York Monday. There would be no marriage on the yacht, the colonel said.

Color was given to the report that the marriage had been performed at Fairfield, Conn., which gained the widest circulation today, by the fact that Mrs. Force and her daughter, Katherine, were in that city today. Dispatches from Fairfield later quoted them as denying that their visit had anything to do with Colonel Astor's plans.

BUSY CAMPAIGN PUT UNDER WAY BY COMMITTEE

Charter Leaders Plan to Reach Every Voter in Atlanta Before Election.

AID OF BUSINESS MEN ASKED BY THE COMMITTEE

Report That I. N. Brown Would Resign From Committee Positively Denied by Mr. Brown---Voters Will Be Informed of the Features of the Charter.

An active campaign which is designed to reach every voter in the city and familiarize him with the important features of the proposed new city charter, which will be voted on September 27, was put under way at a meeting held by the charter campaign committee in the headquarters at 12½ South Broad street yesterday afternoon.

Practically the entire membership of the committee was present at the meeting and if the encouraging reports made by the members are to be accepted as indicating the drift of popular opinion the new charter will be ratified at the polls by an overwhelming majority.

Opposition Boom Punctured.

One of the features of the meeting was a very decided puncture given a boom of the opposition to the effect that I. N. Brown, member of the committee, from the ninth ward, had been "pulled off" and would resign from the committee.

On the contrary, Mr. Brown declared that he is emphatically in favor of the new charter and he declared the reports to the contrary are unfounded in fact. Mr. Brown stated that jury duty and his business affairs will prevent him from giving as much active service to the cause as he would like to give, but he assured the committee of his willingness to do all in his power to secure the ratification of the new charter at the polls on election day.

As the registration list will close next Tuesday the committee decided to issue an earnest appeal to the qualified voters of the city to register without delay and be in position to cast their ballots on election day.

Those Who Are Qualified.

Former Mayor Robert F. Maddox stated there seemed to be some doubt among the voters as to who is qualified to vote in the election. It was stated that any person may vote who has registered since paying his taxes for 1910 and that the mere holding of tax receipts does not register a voter.

In view of the shortness of the time in which to conduct the campaign for the charter the committee was agreed that ward meetings should be held at an early date, and to this end Chairman E. V. Carter was instructed to name a committee, which shall be charged with the duty of selecting speakers for the meetings which will begin some time next week. Chairman Carter will announce the committee Saturday.

Eugene R. Black, secretary of the committee, was instructed to secure a list of the registered voters as soon as possible, and when this list is obtained the committee will make it a point to see each registered voter and urge upon him the necessity of standing by the new charter.

Ask Aid of Business Men.

Mr. Black was instructed to secure from Secretary Cooper, of the chamber of commerce, a list of two or three hundred prominent business men of the city and address letters to them urging their co-operation in the fight for the charter. These letters will be written and mailed out Saturday.

Colonel E. E. Pomeroy reported that his committee has had printed 10,000 cards which will be distributed among the voters and which are to be mailed back to the committee headquarters for the purpose of keeping the committee informed as to the number of voters who propose to support the new charter at the polls.

The committee intends to place a competent man in charge of the headquarters for the purpose of answering telephone calls, giving out information as to the charter and to look after other details incident to the campaign. In order that the best man possible may be secured for this important duty the chairman appointed the following committee to make the selection: E. V. Carter, E. E. Pomeroy and James E. Warren.

Publicity Department.

The committee will also put in charge of the publicity department a man competent to handle that feature of the campaign to the best advantage. Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution, and James R. Gray, editor of The Journal, were appointed a committee to select some capable newspaper man for this work.

The following committee to look after the financing of the charter campaign was appointed: Robert F. Maddox, J. K. Orr, Henry L. Johnson, Frederic J. Paxon and John E. Murphy.

The committee adjourned to meet at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, at which time plans will be made for holding meetings in the various wards of the city and to otherwise present the merits of the new charter to the voters in all its details.

SACRED HARP SINGERS SPLIT OVER SELECTING SONG BOOK

Seceders Will Meet This Morning to Organize Independent Convention.

The Sacred Harp Singing convention, one of the oldest and strongest organizations of the kind in the country, split yesterday morning apparently irrevocably, over the selection of a song book.

As a result of the division, the wing of the convention which is led by J. L. White, of Atlanta; G. M. Roberts, of Buchanan; G. B. Holder, of Rome; Jake Moore, of Smyrna; J. B. Davis, of Birmingham, and others, will meet in the East Atlanta Tabernacle, on Willow street, at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning for the purpose of organizing an independent convention. They will elect officers and continue in session Saturday and Sunday.

According to Mr. White and others, the split came when President Joseph James, of Atlanta, at the meeting held in the Baptist Tabernacle Friday morning, announced the adoption of a new song book, which he has prepared and which is called "The Original Sacred Harp."

When the convention was first organized many years ago, it adopted as the song book "The Sacred Harp," written and published by Major B. F. White, then of Atlanta, and this book has been in constant use since that time.

Therefore, when the announcement was made by the president Friday morning that another book had been adopted, the Whites and their friends, led by J. L. White, of Atlanta, son of Major White, immediately protested.

"We were not even given a chance," declared Mr. White, after the meeting. "Thes book was adopted before anybody knew anything about it, and when Jake Moore and others attempted to put in a word against it, they were not even given a hearing or recognized. The book which has been adopted and which is promulgated by President James, is a clear infringement on the original song book published by my father, and contains practically all the songs which he incorporated in his book. The adoption of the new book is an imposition upon the White family, who will be deprived of the benefit which results from the use of the book which my father published, and which has been in use for so many years."

Mr. White and his friends then announced that they had withdrawn from the convention, and with a large body of their friends, will organize a new association in the East Atlanta Tabernacle Saturday morning.

MAIL DELAYED MANY HOURS THROUGH ECONOMY SYSTEM

Perhaps the most striking incident connected with Postmaster General Hitchcock's regime of "economy" now prevailing in this territory, came to light yesterday.

Mail, intended for offices between Atlanta and Montgomery, on the West Point road, was hauled to Montgomery, then back, and some of it to Atlanta again, thence over part of the road once more to destination. This was done no longer ago than last Sunday. The incident is attributable directly to "economy."

The mail cars between Atlanta and Montgomery have been reduced from 60 to 40 feet, to effect a saving of a few thousand dollars annually in railroad mileage. It was held that all the mail could be crowded into one-third less space than had been used for ten years or more.

Sometimes the clerks are able to do this, but not always. On last Sunday morning the outgoing early morning mail train went out with all the bags of mail put on here for stations between Atlanta and Montgomery stored away in the baggage car. They simply could not be gotten into the mail car, and therefore could not be assorted and put off at the various towns. Included in the mail matter were the Atlanta Sunday papers intended for eastern Georgia and western Alabama.

Instead of being thrown off at the various towns as the train passed, between 5 and 11 a. m., the mail bags were taken on to Montgomery. There they were transferred to the next eastbound train.

This returning train came along late that afternoon and night. The mail intended for towns that make exchange on Sunday nights was delivered; that for other towns was brought back to Atlanta and redispatched Monday morning.

An amusing feature connected with the incident was the presence of one of the inspectors now "reorganizing" the division on the overcrowded mail car Sunday morning. That proves that the storing of the local mail in the baggage car was a physical necessity.

"HELL" CAN'T BE USED AS NAME FOR CAFE

Secretary Lazansky said in his opinion it would be against public policy to permit incorporation under such a name.

PAYS PENALTY FOR HIS CRIME NOVEMBER 28

Specter of Death Which Stalked on Pike Where Mrs. Beattie's Life Was Taken Now Stares Hard at the Husband.

IN SOLITUDE OF HIS CELL BEATTIE BREAKS DOWN AND SHEDS BITTER TEARS

Marital Infidelity of Wealthy Virginian Taken Into Account by Jury---"I Haven't Lost Yet," Declared Beattie in Consoling His Aged Father--Court of Appeals to Be Asked to Grant Writ of Error and a New Trial--Jury Prayed, Then Voted Unanimously to Convict.

BEATTIE CASE IN BRIEF.

Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., drove his motor car into Richmond, Va., on the night of July 18, with the body of his wife, shot through the head.

The young husband's story that the murder was committed by a rough-bearded stranger, and that he wrested from the murderer a single-barreled shotgun, was discredited by police authorities.

The state showed that young Beattie killed his wife that he might be free to continue relations with Beulah Binford, a young woman of the underworld.

Beulah Binford, after being released from jail, where she was held as a witness, hurried to New York, to accept a stage engagement.

The jury last night returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Beattie was condemned to death by electrocution, and November 24 fixed for the execution.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., September 8.—Twelve Virginia farmers knelt at dusk tonight in the obscurity of the small jury room of the Chesterfield courthouse, praying fervently that they might pass judgment aright on Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for the murder of his wife. Grimly determined, they arose a moment later and silently, one by one, recorded a unanimous verdict of "guilty."

Pausing in solemn contemplation for fifty-eight minutes, weighing carefully the meaning of their decision, and once more on bended knees, beseeching divine assistance that they might not err, they filed into the hushed stillness of a crowded court room, and with startling suddenness twelve voices, instead of the usual one of the foreman, spoke the single word, "Guilty." It was almost a shout.

The spectre of death which stalked Midlothian turnpike on July 18 last, when the life of Mrs. Louise Owen Beattie was taken away with, the single report of a shotgun, stared hard at the young husband, ready to claim its victim by electrocution on Friday, November 24 next, but the prisoner returned the gaze, unswerving and unafraid.

The court of appeals, to be sure, will be asked to grant a writ of error and a new trial. Young Beattie, cognizant

ROBERT MADDOX HEADS ALUMNI

Old Georgia Men Gather at the University Club.

Delightful Dutch Supper Is Enjoyed After the Business Session--Classes From 1869 to 1914 Represented by the Large Gathering at Meeting.

The Atlanta Alumni Association of the University of Georgia was organized last night at the University Club, some of the most prominent men in the city being named as officers.

Robert F. Maddox heads the new association as president. Clark Howell is first vice president, Preston Arkwright, second vice president; Judge Ben Hill, third vice president; Reuben R. Arnold, fourth vice president; and Thomas W. Connally, secretary and treasurer.

The governing board of the association consists of John D. Little, Burton Smith, John M. Slaton, Sanders McDaniel, Marcus W. Beck, Harold Hirsch, John Grant, E. M. Mitchell, Phinizy Calhoun, Joel Hurt, William H. Fish, George M. Brown, E. T. Camp, E. E. Dougherty and H. H. Cabaniss. Every election was unanimous. In addition to these officers, the constitution provides for a council to be appointed by the president.

The meeting was called to order by Harrison Jones, '07, who, after stating the object of the gathering, nominated Colonel Pomeroy, '98, to preside. After Colonel Pomeroy took the chair Thomas W. Connally was elected secretary. Dr. Frank Botland read the constitution and by-laws which had been prepared, and which were adopted after some discussion. The constitution provides for the establishment of a scholarship fund, and other work will be taken up as soon as practicable.

After the business meeting a delightful Dutch supper was enjoyed. Georgia songs and yells added to the spirit of the occasion. The large gathering present represented classes from 1869 to 1914.

of the legal weapons yet at his disposal, did not surrender. Instead, he consoled his broken-down father, white-haired and wrinkled, and comforted him as he whispered, "I haven't lost yet, father."

Unusual as has been the tragedy and the gruesome stage where it occurred, the twelve jurymen did not hesitate to admit to their friends that they stood in judgment not only over the cold-blooded murderer, but upon his marital infidelity as well. It, perhaps, was the dramatic climax of Virginia justice, which in the last half century has swiftly sent to death such famous murderers as Cluverius, Phillips and McCue.

At the close of a powerful address by L. O. Wendenberg, the voluntary assistant of the commonwealth in the case, the suspense was felt not alone in the court room, but in Richmond, where thousands of people awaited the outcome.

The jury had for eleven days heard evidence, for two days speeches, but the words of Wendenberg rang in their ears as they left the court room to find their verdict.

"Motherhood of Virginia."

"Let that man go free?" he cried. "What, let that man go free? Why, the motherhood of Virginia, the womanhood of this nation will shudder in terror, as the security of its life is threatened. Let this man go free? The man who basked in the degraded sunshine of another woman while at his home a young wife nursed his child? Gentlemen, I merely ask you, in the name of justice, to do your duty."

In vivid detail the prosecutor pictured the wife as she started on her innocent journey into the cool air of a summer night. The jury saw again in their minds the automobile in which she rode beside her husband; how Beattie stepped into the darkness of the thicket, found the shotgun which he had earlier concealed, and deliberately slew his wife.

The desperate ride home with a bleeding and lifeless body crushed into the small space in the front part of the machine, the husband coldly sitting against the blood-covered head of his wife, were graphically detailed to the jury. Only passing attention was given to the purchase of the gun by Paul Beattie, a cousin of the accused.

Bloody Coat Mute Evidence.

The defense had claimed, he said, that on Paul's story alone was built the case of the prosecution, but he held aloft the blood-stained clothing of the prisoner "as the mute evidence of the crime," and asked:

"Do you want any other evidence?"

"Blood flecked the lower fringe of the shirt in deep black blots; not a mark was on either sleeve of shirt or coat. The prisoner had declared he held his wife with one hand and steered his car with the other, but the absence of blood on the arms, the prosecutor declared, gave the lie to his story. Not alone with the clothing did the prosecutor disentangle what he termed "the cheapest fabrication of the cheapest murder," but he shouted shame at the prisoner for his relations with a mere slip of a girl, from the age of 13 until within his own married life, and held her forth as the motive for the crime.

"And the prisoner admits it was his passion," said Mr. Wendenburg. "Yes, it was passion, but passion born of the devil, and passion that sent to death his wife so that he might continue his vicious pleasure!"

Mr. Wendenburg concluded his address a few minutes after 5 p. m. A brief respite was given the jury, and at 5:28 o'clock it began consideration of the case.

Out Fifty-eight Minutes.

For fifty-eight minutes they were together, a jury of simple farmers who each morning sang hymns and strove to forget the story of dissipation with its filthy characters as related day after day on the witness stand. What had been generally predicted was true—their minds were well made up before they left the court room. W. L. Burgess, a square-jawed man with an earnest face, was elected foreman. They balloted and it was no surprise, they afterwards declared, that all voted alike. They prayed that they might not take a life in vain, and they opened their consciences to one another for nearly an hour, so they might go back to the court room firmly convinced of their duty and of one mind.

In the court room sat Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., the sporting page of a newspaper spread before him, but he did not read long. He folded the paper and concealed his face in it. Those who sat near the boy of iron nerve observed a twitching of his lips as though moving in prayer as he sat with closed eyes awaiting the return of the jury. He raised his head for a moment, dropped the paper again and began reading. Then he whispered a few words to his father and brother. It was for them he felt, and to them he counseled cheerfulness.

Dusk in Court Room.

It was nearly dark in the court room when the jury returned. Three oil lamps gave meager luster to the scene. Sunset's red rays still streaked through the window. On every sill rested a telegraph instrument and operators tensely waited for the announcement of the verdict. A thick mass of faces rising in an incline to the shabby ceiling stared at the jurymen. Famous jurists looked down from fly-specked paintings. In the minds of the gaping crowd remained the thought of the powerful speech of the prosecutor and his denunciation of the man "who exchanged the glow of virtue for passion's feeble tapers."

The court asked the prisoner to rise. He drew himself up calmly and waited.

"Have you gentlemen agreed on a verdict?" asked Judge Watson.

"We have," said Foreman Burgess.

The prisoner had confidently expected a "hung jury." The court requested the audience not to manifest its approval or disapproval, whatever the verdict.

"And what is your verdict?" asked Judge Watson, turning again to Foreman Burgess.

"Guilty!" Shout Jurors.

"Guilty!" answered Burgess, but his voice was swelled by the shout of eleven others.

Unversed in law and the forms of a murder trial, the jurymen had not specified what degree of murder. Asked what degree, Mr. Burgess answered simply, "Guilty as indicted."

Under Virginia practice murder is presumed to be second degree unless otherwise specified. It was incumbent upon the jury to fix the degree, so Judge Watson advised the jurymen to confer again on the point, and seven minutes later they returned, this time with the verdict of "murder in the first degree."

The prisoner stood erect and motionless. His face, in color a yellowish green throughout the day, was immobile.

The light of a lamp cast a dreay shadow upon his upturned chin as he faced the jury. His eyelids sagged, but did not blink. In steady gaze he held his eyes on the faces of the twelve men who had pronounced his punishment, as if to penetrate their minds and determine the reason why. It was not a resentful expression.

When the court asked if the prisoner had anything to say he answered: "I have nothing to say," and sat down.

Stay of Execution Granted

The perfunctory motions for a new trial were made by counsel for the defense. The usual granting of permission even to argue the point was denied as Judge Watson in a stern voice declared that all rulings of the court were on comparatively unimportant detail and in no way could have influenced the verdict. A stay of execution was granted, however, in order to give counsel an opportunity to apply for writ of error when the court of appeals meets in November.

Trial Causes Suicide.

Pensacola, Fla., September 8.—After reading a story in a newspaper that Beulah Binford would probably be prosecuted in connection with the Beattie murder in Virginia, Mrs. Laura Sullivan became despondent yesterday and swallowed laudanum with suicidal intent. The poison not proving fatal, Mrs. Sullivan thereupon stabbed herself in the side and head and tried to blow out her brains, the bullet only making a scalp wound. She said suicide had not occurred to her until she read the story. She will recover.

MARRIAGE TO BE SERMON SUBJECT

Interesting Series of Addresses to Be Delivered by Dr. L. O. Bricker.

A series of Sunday evening addresses will be inaugurated by Dr. L. O. Bricker at the First Christian church Sunday morning.

"The Music of Married Life" will be the subject of the series, which will consist of six addresses, one each Sunday evening until October 15. These sermons will be exceptionally interesting, coming, as they do, at a time when all churches are practically solid against the divorce evil, and when millionaires are offering thousand-dollar fees to the men of God to marry them.

DR. L. O. BRICKER.

Dr. Bricker will consider every phrase of marrie dlife, "before and after taking," and promises to treat the matter in a style that will appeal to everyone who is interetsed at all in the subject of marriage. Following is the schedule of subjects:

SUNDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 10.
"Before the Wedding Day."
Sub-topics: The Soloists and their individual right to sing; what is marriage? the profit and loss of matrimony; the choice of a wife; which one is the one? a bit of quiet advice.

SUNDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 17.
"After the Wedding Day."
Sub-topics: The Dust; making music together; a to-be-continued story; curing your partner's faults; sharps and flats; matrimonial friction; the chemistry of bliss; "making up."

SUNDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 24.
"The Home Builders."
Sub-topics: Private rehearsals; public concerts; giving your best; cream and skim milk; "Pickle and Peach;" crescendos; diminuendos; a castle of love; John Howard Payne.

SUNDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 1.
"When the Baby Comes."
Sub-topics: The Trio; together or apart; the rights of children; getting off key; "bad apple pies;" "Parents, obey your children in the Lord."

SUNDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 8.
"The Wreckers of Happiness."
Sub-topics: The Discord; catching a Tartar; the complaining habit; spoiled romances; "keep sweet."

SUNDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 15.
"The Question of Divorce."
Sub-topics: The rift in the lute; at the grave of love; should divorce ever be granted; the remedy; scraps and the "divers;" the Persian legend; the beginning of trouble; "John Anderson, My Jo."

Into these addresses Dr. Bricker has put the deliberation and study of many years. In some of the sermons he has already preached during his short three months' pastorate, he has touched upon the great question of matrimony and has shown already that he brings to the treatment a ripe wisdom. In announcing the series to his congregation last Sunday evening, he said:

"For ten years I have been occupied in the preparation of this series of addresses. I realize that man should not treat authoritatively such a ponderous subject without years of meditation and struggling over the great questions contained therein. Parts of these sermons I wrote many years ago, and I have been working on them and trying to improve them ever since. I submit them humbly to your judgment."

The Finest Milk in America For Half What You Pay

Rich Holstein milk—8 per cent butter fat—utterly free from germs. Pure, Swiss-like milk for less than milkman's milk.

Madam, give us a moment to prove these facts to you. There are few things more important.

The main food question is to get pure milk—milk that is free from germs. That means a sterilized milk.

Next comes the question of richness and flavor. That means milk from well-fed, high-bred cows.

Those are the qualities people get in Van Camp's Milk. And they get them for less than milkmen charge for impure milk from mongrel cows.

Van Camp's Milk comes to you as thick as thick cream. Two-thirds of the water has been evaporated. It is 25 per cent solids—8 per cent butter fat.

When this milk is reduced to the usual milk's richness the cost will figure about six cents per quart.

In addition to this comes the saving of waste. You open a can of Van Camp's when you want it, and it keeps till you use it up. None is ever left over to sour.

These two savings together—in cost and waste—cut the milk bills in two for most people who use it. The saving in cost comes through saving the milkman's daily delivery.

Vanilla Ice Cream

To one pint can of Van Camp's Milk add one cup of boiling water. Add ¾ of a cup of sugar and one tablespoonful of vanilla extract. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then put into the freezer. In freezing use three parts of finely crushed ice to one of rock salt.

Write for our book of 111 recipes, including all sorts of ice cream.

Van Camp Packing Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

A Germless Milk

Van Camp's Milk is utterly sterile. Raw milk, as you know, contains millions of germs. Van Camp's contains none at all.

Our cows are high-bred. Our dairies are models. They are located in the finest dairying sections of seven northern states. We get the finest milk that's produced in America.

Our evaporating plants are located close to these dairies. They are conducted with hospital cleanliness.

There the milk fresh from the cows is put into a vacuum, and two-thirds of the water is taken out by low-heat evaporation. That is all. Nothing is added. Nothing but water is taken out. Put back the water and the milk is the same as it came from the cow, save for sterilization.

Such is the milk which is offered you for less than the cost of the poorest milk which milk wagons ever delivered.

Its Amazing Richness

When Van Camp's Milk is used in milk dishes, pastry or ice cream, everyone notes an unusual richness. Some people think we add something to give it.

But we don't. Van Camp's is simply whole milk. It seems rich because you have cooked with a half-milk.

Milkman's milk separates. The butter fat rises and the solids fall. Much of the richness is always lacking when the milk gets to the cooking. In Van Camp's there is nothing lacking.

Like Swiss Milk

For seven years we have employed in our milk business the ablest experts from Switzerland and Holland. We have spent in this way $100,000 to bring this milk up to the finest Swiss standards. There is not produced now in any part of the world any better milk than Van Camp's.

You will find it exquisitely perfect. It is so good that, to supply the demand, we milk 30,000 cows per day. You will never be satisfied with other milk after you use this once. Please prove that for yourself.

The 16-oz. can—a full pint of Van Camp's—costs 10 cents. The 6-oz. can costs 5 cents. Your grocer has it, shipped from our nearest dairy. Tell him now—before you forget it—to send a supply to you.

DUNLAP AND KITCHEN ENTER 1911 TOUR AROUND GEORGIA

COL. SAMUEL C. DUNLAP. Commissioner Georgia bureau of industries and immigration, and entry No. 7 in the tour around Georgia.

A. M. KITCHEN. Of Baldwin, president of big orchard company, and entry No. 8 in the tour around Georgia.

Not waiting for entry blanks, which will be ready about September 25, following the meeting of the executive committee for the Tour Around Georgia, Colonel Samuel C. Dunlap, of Gainesville and Atlanta, and A. M. Kitchen, of Baldwin, yesterday insisted that their names be entered as participants in the coming tour which goes to Savannah for the big automobile races.

Each of them will drive his E-M-F. 30 in the tour.

Colonel Dunlap is commissioner for the Georgia Bureau of Industries and Immigration, and, while his home is in Gainesville, his office is in the Atlanta National Bank building.

"I am certainly not going to miss the tour," he said, "and you can put me down as an entrant. It is one of the best opportunities to see Georgia I know of, and to see the state under ideal conditions. Besides that, you have a whole lot of fun on the tour, which is well worth the while. It is an opportunity which everyone who can do so should take advantage of."

Colonel Dunlap will be entry No. 7, and Mr. Kitchen, No. 8.

"You can put me in also," said Mr. Kitchen. "Colonel Dunlap here has been talking to me about the tour around Georgia until I feel as if I should miss an important part of my life if I kept out of it. I wasn't in last year's tour, but I intend to go this time, and to get all there is to be gotten out of it."

Mr. Kitchen lives at Baldwin, where he is at the head of a big orchard company. Both Mr. Kitchen and Colonel Dunlap are well-known developers; they are actively and vigorously interested in the development and progress not only of their home sections, but of the entire state. They look upon the Tour Around Georgia as an important developing force, and both of them are anxious to participate in it.

RUSSELL CLUB IS ORGANIZED

"Plain Dick" Given Support for Governor at Meeting in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—The "Plain Dick Russell Club" was organized here tonight. Representative Alexander A. Lawrence was made temporary chairman and Joseph M. Broderick secretary of the temporary organization and a committee was named to select permanent officers. The attendance at the organization meeting was large.

It was evident at tonight's meeting that the crowd was on hand to show its approval of Judge Russell's stand on the liquor question. Both local factions were represented at the meeting, which was enthusiastic.

The several hundred who signed cards pledging their vote and support to Judge Russell made it plain that they were going to fight hard for him because he stands for what Chatham stands for in the matter of the traffic in liquor.

SHOOT PIKE'S PEAK ON GREASED BOARD

Two Skim Down the Mountain at the Rate of Mile a Minute.

Colorado Springs, Col., September 8. R. O. Green, of New York, and M. H. Hayden, of Detroit, yesterday shot "Pike's Peak" on a railroad toboggan—a greased board with cleats that fit over the cog-rail of the mountain railroad. Starting from a point above the Halfway House, they reached Manitou, at the base of the peak, a distance of about five miles, in five minutes and thirty-seven seconds.

"Shooting The Peak" was more or less common sport some years ago, but was stopped by the officials of the cog road because, as the management put it, "the fool killer got on the job too often."

Receipt For Weak Men---Free

Send Name and Address Today---You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor-failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPORT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3962 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid receipt in a plain ordinary sealed envelope free of charge.

"JEDGE BRILES" ON JOB AGAIN

The Recorder Returns After a Vacation of a Month.

Dere's wailin' 'mong de sinners,
An' Darktown's got de sob,
I's done wid cyards an' licker,
Fer Jedge Briles's on de job.

He's come back from de mount'ins;
He sez he's feelin' fine,
So I's climbin' on de wagin,
Dere's no more booze in mine.

Recorder Nash R. Broyles presided in the police court yesterday morning after an absence of thirty days, during which time he spent his vacation in the mountains of North Carolina.

JUDGE NASH BROYLES. Who is home again after thirty days' vacation.

Whether or not the prisoners were glad to see him back is a question of much doubt. Some of the old rounders stated that while they have always objected to the sentences imposed upon them by Recorder Broyles, they would rather have him any day in the week than the uncertain councilmen who have been trying to hold court during his absence. They claim that while Judge Broyles' sentences are objectionable, as are all sentences, he is far more stable and just than members of the council to whom the conduct of a court is entirely new. It is claimed that a certain councilman would on one day pronounce the most unheard of sentences, while another councilman the very next day would turn nearly every prisoner loose.

Recorder Broyles is looking well after his trip, a little sun-burned and tanned, perhaps, but in "fine" fettle.

The very first prisoner he tried Friday morning was an elderly white man who has spent much of his life in the stockade. When he saw the recorder on the bench he smiled, extended his hand as to an old acquaintance and explained.

"Glad to see you back."

"Thank you," replied the recorder. "I will have to fine you $10.75 for being drunk and disorderly."

The man, with a smile still on his face, bowed and remarked:

"Glad to see you back, anyway."

Big Pumpkins.

Rome, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—James Lumpkin, of this city, is the champion pumpkin raiser of Floyd county, perhaps of the whole state. On a single vine at his home in the Fourth ward Mr. Lumpkin gathered a whole carload of pumpkins. The smallest of the output weighed 40 pounds and the largest 75 pounds.

Asks Use of Streets.

Fitzgerald, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Hon. J. A. J. Henderson, president of the Ocilla Southern railroad, is in the city today to attend an extra meeting of the council tonight, which will act upon the request of the railroad to give the use of certain streets and alleys of the city for track and depot purposes. It is expected to meet with some opposition in the council.

JEDGE NASH BRILES' CADDY FALLS AGAIN FROM GRACE

"Tater," the erstwhile caddy of Recorder Broyles, was arraigned in the police court again yesterday morning for stealing. "Tater's" right name is Will Cook, but he is only known as "Tater," that name having been given him when he was a caddy on the East Lake golf links and when he was being disciplined by the police court judge, who had an idea that he was going to make of "Tater" an exemplary negro boy.

"Tater" first fell from grace by getting into numerous fights on the golf links, for which he was expelled. Then he went to stealing and served a sentence in the chaingang. As he stood before the recorder Friday morning he was a self-convicted thief, as he wore a pair of trousers which he was charged with stealing and which were so large as to almost swallow him up.

As "Tater" contended that he had bought the trousers he was asked by the recorder why they were such an awful misfit. "Tater" replied:

"I buyed 'em too big an' if I buys mer breeches too big is dat any re'son why a low-down nigger hez got de right to 'scuse me ob stealin' 'em?"

The recorder gazed sadly at his fallen caddy and said:

"Ah, 'Tater,' in spite of all my precepts and in spite of all I did to make you live a better life, you have gone down and down and down until now there is scarcely any hope for you. I will have to bind you over to the state courts for larceny. I am afraid that you have exchanged for life the golf links for the links of the convict's chain."

GOODBYE "TATER."

JEWS IN RUSSIA TO BE MASSACRED

Mad Monk of Tsaritan Creates Terror by His Sensational Campaign.

Tsaritsan, Russia, September 8.—Heliodorus, the "Mad Monk of Tsarita," today publicly declared that attacks upon Jews would be begun after the forthcoming congress of the Black Hundred.

This declaration by the parish priest, whose fanatic methods have startled the whole Volga region, has created an impresion of semi-panic in this city.

Talk of a probable massacre of Jews is current at the bazars.

Although only 31 years old, the monk, Heliodorus, is perhaps the most talked of man in the Russian church today. "We must pray to God noisily," is his motto.

For months past he has been a picturesque agitation in the Volga region, and although the secular clergy have been greatly shocked, their protests against his methods have been in vain. He attracted world-wide attention by leading several fantastic pilgrimages, and during February and March last, he and his parishioners successfully defied a decree of the church transferring him from the Tsaritsan.

They barricaded themselves in the church and refused to partake of food or to sleep until the order was rescinded. They were victorious and the monk has continued his sensational campaign.

TO CELEBRATE CANAL'S FINISH

New Orleans Plans a Big Time for "United Americas" in 1913.

New Orleans, September 8.—G. Grosvenor Dawe, director general of the Southern Commercial Congress, with headquarters in Washington, yesterday met with the executive committee of the United America's 1913 celebration, discussing plans by which the congress will invite conventions to this city during 1913, plans of entertainments, the erection of a mammoth auditorium by the city, and to seek special rates from Central and South America to this city during the convention year.

"The celebration will be national in scope," said Mr. Dawe, "because the turning of the water into the canal in the summer of 1913 will be in itself a national event. The interest of the Southern Commercial Congress in the matter is logical, for we are operating to produce in the south a keener national sense as relates to developments, and we regard the completion of the canal as a means of carrying on our work, which is to attract the attention of the United States to the south and its resources."

Mr. Dawe left last night for Port Arthur, Texas. He will arrive at El Paso on the 11th to meet Colonel B. C. Collier, director general of the San Diego Panama-California exposition. They will make a 5,000-mile trip over the southern states in the interest of the Memphis congress, October 9.

THEATERS

"The Girl From Rector's."

(At the Grand.)

Tbhe remarkable show of interest in the forthcoming production of "The Girl From Rector's" by the theater-goers in this city proves that all hands are ready for an afternoon and evening of real fun.

"The Girl From Rector's" is one of the funniest of high-class productions. The plot deals with the actions of a young society woman and her husband—a judge at the court of Shanghai—who is away from home and his pretty wife in Battle Creek, Mich., for such long periods, during which her time and attention is given to society and charitable routine—of which she soon tires. She decides to go to New York for recreation and rest. There she is attracted by the glaring lights of Rector's.

She will be at the Grand Opera House this afternoon and tonight.

A scene from "The Girl From Rector's."

"The Sign of the Rose."

(At the Atlanta.)

George Beban and the 40 members of his company which is to open the Atlanta theater Monday night, left New York today for Atlanta and will arrive here tomorrow. The company is bringing several carloads of scenery, properties and equipment and will give a production so complete, so beautiful and effective as to prove a revelation in the matter of stage art. Klaw & Erlanger and Beban have spared no expense in arranging for this production and "The Sign of the Rose" is sure to stand out in the memory of those who see it for many seasons.

While Atlanta will receive the real premier of the production, Mr. Beban and his company slipped out of New York Thursday and gave a performance at Poughkeepsie that night. A telegram from R. D. Stevens yesterday stated that the production was a sensation and that too many good words cannot be said of the play and company. Mr. Stevens is an ultra conservative critic.

J. M. HIGH COMPANY.

A DUTY THAT YOU OWE TO YOUR CHILDREN—

that of seeing to it that their little growing feet are properly housed. The child's physical, and even mental and moral health depends upon it.

It is not at all sufficient that the child's feet shall be protected from the wet or cold. The shoes must have been rightly shaped; they must have been made of flexible, though tough and tenacious material; they must have been well made.

Then they must be properly fitted. It is upon this—the proper fitting of the child's foot—that we have specialized.

These Sorosis Shoes for children, fitted to the child's feet by our experts, who have made a life study of the work, insure absolutely correct shoes for your child.

Sorosis Shoes for children, priced $1 to $3.50.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Matinee and night performances on Saturday will conclude the stay of the excellent vaudeville features that have kept the Forsyth busy this week. It should not be forgotten that they have not closed down that cooling plant or shut off the battery of fans that make the Forsyth several degrees cooler in doors of the theater than on the pavement outdoors. That fact has something to do with the standard of attendance. At any rate Stuart Barnes, George B. Reno and Company; the Chevalier DeLoris, Nevins and Erwood and the others that have made life worth while at the busy theater are going to be seen for their farewells this season at the matinee and night performances today.

There is some bill for next week. In the language of the folk who deal in the modern Americanisms of speech, the bill looks like a corker.

Emma Bunting.

(At the Lyric.)

In the role of Lois Holcomb, a village beauty, Miss Emma Bunting, the leading lady at the Lyric, has made a pronounced hit in "Sweet Clover," which is this week's bill. The play was the leading lady's own selection of an offering, and the fact that crowded houses have greeted her at every performance makes it pretty certain that she made no mistake in her choice. There are four acts in "Sweet Clover," and each has been furnished with a wealth of special scenery. Next week will mark the end of the summer engagement of Miss Bunting and her players and "The Blue Mouse," one of the funniest farces ever written by Clyde Fitch, will be the offering. In view of the fact that each member of the company has already appeared in "The Blue Mouse" a more than usually smooth and finished production is assured. "Sweet Clover" will be presented at matinee this afternoon, with a final performance tonight.

Father-in-Law Makes.

Athens, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) Homer Howard, the young man who was arrested for getting married Wednesday afternoon and placed in jail on a warrant sworn out by his 13-year-old wife's father, was yesterday liberated, and in company with his father-in-law left the justice of the peace and his court room as companionable as you please.

The older gentleman paid the costs in the case, and invited the son-in-law, whom the afternoon before he had flung into prison, to go home to his pretty little bride and be good.

CONVINCING FOR THE NEW CHARTER!

Here is one of the most incontrovertible arguments for the new charter yet brought forward; it is in the form of an interview given The Constitution by former Chief of Police Jennings, whose retirement from active office enables him to speak the truth with safety:

"Yes, sir, I had to be in politics, and the police officer who is not in politics has, in my opinion, a very poor sort of a show to get promotion. Of course, when I was asked about politics in the police force, I had to scout at the idea. I do not mean to charge any members of the police board with anything reprehensible. Everybody knows that council members are in politics. Therefore, the city boards are in politics, and as the police board was in politics, why, the chief of police had, necessarily, to be in politics. I was very careful about trying to keep politics out of the police force as far as possible, but I have often asked myself the question, how men who hold political jobs can keep out of politics? As I stated, when I was chief of police, I was in politics, and let me tell you right here it is no easy job to be in politics and not let it be known."

Politics the price of promotion, the price of remaining on the salary list for the guardians of the city's lives and property!

Could any more complete arraignment be found of the charter under which Atlanta now operates? Could any more clinching argument be found for taking out of politics the men upon whose efficiency public safety depends?

Former Chief Jennings simply puts in language what every Atlantan has previously known. Under the old regime of board management, the police department could not be otherwise than faction-torn.

THE OFFICERS AND MEN WHO ARE CALLED UPON TO SUPPRESS OUTLAWRY FOUND THEMSELVES COMPELLED TO TRUCKLE, FIRST TO ONE FACTION AND THEN ANOTHER, AS BALANCE OF POWER IN THE BOARD SHIFTED. The fault should not be held against the commissioners. They were only human beings. The fault lay in the SYSTEM, a system that jeopardized life and property in Atlanta, while the sworn guardians of both legged and heeled and electioneered in order to hold the positions that meant bread and meat for their families, and that meant the only outlet for the natural ambitions of aspiring ability.

On a smaller, but no less well-defined scale, the same baneful system has applied to EVERY DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

Senile, but industrious, rumor has tried to convince both policemen and firemen that the new charter would jeopardize their jobs.

The exact reverse is true. The new charter squarely maintains the civil service principle. It places the policeman and the fireman under the absolute supervision of one man, answerable solely to the people. It conclusively eliminates the shameful necessity of political jockeying to retain position or gain promotion. The tests will be ability and fidelity, not gum-shoe electioneering or unmanly boot-licking.

On these two counts alone, every man who values safety of life and property in Atlanta ought to vote for the new charter. Every policeman and fireman who values his manhood and chances for promotion ought to do likewise.

Disregard the misleading voice of a few interested politicians who seek to perpetuate the old system that has, at times, given rise to epidemics of unpunished crime in the city.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED?

TO THE BOTTOM OF INEFFICIENCY.

The best guarantee that the Chamber of Commerce probe of the wretched postal facilities will be thorough and unsparing, is found in the personnel of the committee designated for the investigation. V. H. Kriegshaber is chairman. The other members are A. C. McHan, J. R. A. Hobson, H. G. Hastings, M. R. Holahan, Brooks Morgan and J. T. Holleman.

These gentlemen are representative business men who should be familiar, by personal experience, with the expensive effects of the "economy" introduced by Hitchcockism.

The one "error" alone that cost the Southern School Book Repository a $200,000 contract furnishes a lead that, followed, should unearth other losses and abuses almost as flagrant.

The cumulative rottenness of the postal service given Atlanta has become intolerable. The making of the local office a dumping ground for political favorites of the department's head, the swarming of spies, the reducing of assumed responsible officials to the level of puppets has wrought its inevitable harvest of demoralization.

Unchecked, it is impossible to tell where it will end. Submitted to without protest, it must attain such proportions as will surely undermine the business interests upon which the prosperity and progress of the community depend.

This investigating committee represents Atlanta! Their assignment is a momentous one. Upon its proper conclusion and the subsequent representations made to congress will depend the reforming of a condition that menaces the prospects of every enterprise and the convenience of every individual in the city.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF CHARLEY BARRETT.

The news of the unopposed re-election of Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, to the presidency of the Farmers' Union, will not come in the nature of a surprise to those who know how closely he has been identified with the progress and integrity of this great national organization.

During the several terms Mr. Barrett has discharged the high functions of his office, the union has spread until today it is organized in twenty-one states and territories, and has provisional or preliminary organizations in many others. He has given its doctrines and mission a cohesiveness never yet attained by any farmers' organization in American history, and, speaking from the national standpoint, he has steadily resisted the tendencies that would have plunged the union into entangling political and other alliances.

Perhaps the distinctive feature of Mr. Barrett's administrations is that he has not hesitated to tell the truth, often the unpleasant truth, to the farmers. There will be found plenty of politicians and ordinary agricultural leaders who will feed the man of the acres on flattery and impress upon him that the remedy for his ills lies in a revolt against all outside conditions.

It is a tribute to his sustained usefulness, both to the farmer and the nation, that his annual re-election has become a matter of course, expected by his friends both within and without the organization.

Storms.

I.

Without, the shades of storm-cloud fall
All dark o'er moor and main;
Within, a storm of heavy pall,
And tears in sad refrain—
While from black clouds, ah, see them fall,
White wreaths of slanting rain!

II.

Without, the lightning's flash illumes
The dunes where Brownies sleep,
The darkness goblin-shapes assumes,
And shadows, ghost-like creep—
Within, a storm of terror looms,
A thousand wild eyes peep!

III.

The far-off cry of baby lambs,
The chirp from fledgling's nest—
Within, the lullaby of psalms,
Like nursery hymns of rest—
Without, the raging tempest calms,
Peace cradles in the breast.

IV.

Then hearten Heart! then hearten Earth!
Fear not whate'er betide!
Soon gloomy skies aglow with mirth,
Think not that storms abide—
For, lo! they pass, and like the Earth,
We stand forth purified.

Two Car Lines for Valdosta.

Valdosta, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—It begins to look like Valdosta will have two street car companies, unless there is a merger of the old company with a proposed new one, which is asking for a franchise here. At the meeting of the city council yesterday Colonel George L. Patterson, representing local interests, appeared before the body and stated that an application would be made before the board at the next meeting for a new electric railway company. The new corporation does not propose to traverse territory now covered by the Valdosta Street Railway Company, but its line will be laid along other streets of the city.

To Improve Fire Department.

Valdosta, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Valdosta's fire fighting equipment, already one of the best in the state, will, by the action of the city council at its meeting yesterday, be placed on a footing with that of the largest cities in Georgia. Authority was given the committee on fire and lights to buy a 70-horse power auto fire truck. The council at its meeting also voted to pay the expenses of Chief Brooks to the meeting of the National Fire Chiefs' Association, which meets at Milwaukee.

M'CARTHY URGED FOR LABOR COMMISSIONER

Chatham Representative May Run for Office Created by His Bill.

Savannah, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Representative Joseph McCarthy, of Chatham county, will probably be a candidate for labor commissioner. Friends of Representative McCarthy, who was the father of the bill that provided for a labor commissioner for Georgia, are urging his candidacy, and it is believed Mr McCarthy will decide to make the race in the special election that will be held when the governor is nominated. Mr. McCarthy has been the representative of organized labor of this section in the general assembly for several terms.

HOME BREAKER KILLED.

Husband Returns Unexpectedly and Finds Man With Wife.

Natchez, Miss., September 8.—Fred C. Dyers, a married man, was shot and killed at 2 o'clock this morning by L. C. Spencer, at the latter's home. Spencer returned from Mobile unexpectedly, and when he reached home at 2 o'clock he found Dyers in a room with his wife. He shot four times, each ball taking effect.

Dyers' wife and daughter are visiting his brother in Washington, D. C.

Caterpillars in Baldwin.

Milledgeville, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—The cotton crops in Baldwin are being damaged by the caterpillars now. Myriads of them are crawling over the cotton fields and devastating them. The amount of damage done cannot be estimated just now, but it seems to be a certainty that no further crop may be expected from some of the fields.

Negro Sentenced.

Lawrenceville, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Harrison Rogers, colored, was convicted in Gwinnett superior court this morning of murder, with a recommendation to mercy of the court, and was sentenced by Judge Brand to a life term in the penitentiary. Rogers killed a white man by the name of Swofford, in Pinkneyville district, at a negro barbecue several weeks ago.

HUDSON AND WORSHAM LEAVE FOR BOLL WEEVIL SECTIONS

Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson and State Entymologist Worsham will leave Monday on an extended tour through the boll weevil sections of the cotton growing states of the south with a vie wto making a first-hand observation of the damage and destruction caused by this insect, and upon their return to Georgia, Entymologist Worsham will issue an exhaustive bulletin on this subject.

They willl spend Tuesday, Wednesday and a part of Thursday in Montgomery in attendance upon the meeting of the state commissioners of agriculture, and upon adjournment will go through Mississippi, Louisiana and Texts on the tour of inspection.

Professor Worsham states that he is going to make a study of the cotton caterpillar, too, which, in many sections is doing an immense amount of damage to the growing cotto ncrop. He is firm in the belief that it is only a question of months now before the boll weevil reaches Georgia.

The approach of the boll weevil not only spells ruin to the cotton planters through the damage done to their cotton crop, but it will also seriously affect the amount of cotton seed produced, which has come to be such an important part of the cotton crop.

Were Guests at Dinner Given in Their Honor at Country Home in Sea Girt.

Governor and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, are at their summer home at Sea Girt, N. J., about 20 miles away, where the New Jersey troops have been in camp, and entertained Senator and Mrs. Harris at dinner there Monday.

Mr. Harris introduced the resolution in the Georgia senate inviting Governor Wilson to visit the Empire State and address the Georgia legislature, and Mr. Harris writes that everyone he meets in the east is confident that Governor Wilson will be the next democratic nominee for president and that he will defeat President Taft for re-election.

Mrs. Wilson's brother, Mr. Axson, now a professor at Princeton university, was in college with Mr. Harris. Her father, by the way, was formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church in Rome, and once preached in Cedartown.

NEGRO CREMATED IN CUTHBERT FIRE

Went to Bed With Cigarette in Lips With Fatal Results.

Cuthbert, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Cuthbert was visited last night by a fire that totally destroyed a negro house in one of the choicest white residential sections, and when the flames had died down small enough for the firemen to approach, they discovered in the ruins the charred corpse of the negro, who had been unable to escape. The negro, Morgan, ran a restaurant in town. During the evening, business being quiet, by proper doses of blind tiger whisky and nigh beer, he got himself into a state of happiness, and went home, where he found the balance of the family had gone to a party. Feeling sleepy, he crawled into bed without making a single change, never even removing his cigarette from his mouth, and that's where he made the fatal error, for in about one-half hour the fire alarm rang out, and when the firemen reached the house the whole interior was a mass of flames, from which Morgan could not escape, and not being able to rescue him, they turned their attention to preventing the flames reaching the homes of white people near, and by good work, kept the fire down to the one house.

LaGrange, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—With impressive opening ceremonies, the Southern Female College of this city opened its doors for the sixty-ninth school year Thursday morning, and over 200 pupils were registered.

Among the principal out-of-town personages who took active part in the opening were Rev. Dr. J. S. Hartaway, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Newnan, Ga., and Hon. R. W. Hunt, of Decatur, Ga. Hon. E. B. Clark, of this city, representing the trustees of the institution, reviewed the efforts of the board in their attempts to raise $13,500 for a building, which sum will be added to by one-half through Mr. Andrew Carnegie, when raised.

SECOND DISTRICT SCHOOL OPENS FOR FALL TERM

Enrollment Largely Exceeds That of Any Previous Term.

Tifton, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) The fall term of the Second District Agricultural School opened this week with an enrollment of 151, the largest so far reported from any agricultural school in the state. At least four more are coming within the week. The dormitories would not accommodate all the students and twenty-one boys are being cared for in the academic building.

Football practice began yesterday, and the school expects to have one of the strongest teams south of Macon. Last year it won nearly every game played, and some of the veterans of that team are in harness again.

The enrollment exceeds that of any previous term and everything points to the most successful year of the school.

Alumni Association Formed.

LaGrange, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—An alumni association was organized Thursday night at a banquet given by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Hotel Elmrose, from twenty-five fraternity men who were present. The production for the first eight months of the year, despite the curtailment plans, has gone over the million-ton mark.

JOHNSON CASE VERDICT TODAY

Jury Hears Story of the Killing of T. J. Kelly.

Teacher in Tennille Institute Claims He Shot Father of Pupil in Self-Defense--Congressman Hardwick Will End Case for the State.

Tennille, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—The taking of testimony was continued here today in the case against Professor Johnson, of the Tennille institute, charged with killing Dr. T. J. Kelly after having trouble with his son, T. J. Kelly, Jr. The prosecution will conclude its case tomorrow and a verdict is expected by evening.

Court opened with Wright for the prosecution, making a speech, which was practically a ridicule of testimony given by two of the young lady teachers who were among the defendant's most important witnesses. He referred to Captain J. D. Franklin as a coward and concluded his speech with an appeal to the jury for conviction of the defendant.

Judge J. K. Hines then took the stand, and in a forceful manner began with a ridicule of part of Colonel Wright's remarks, and attacked the testimony given by J. W. Smith and J. D. Voss and the statement made by Colonel Wright, that "Professor Johnson was hid in a clump of bushes prepared to shoot Dr. Kelly from ambush when along came Miss Jones and Miss Hatch, two of the young lady teachers, and frustrated this design." Colonel Wright had said he hid behind a large tree and, like a coward, used it as a shield and shot Dr. Kelly in cold-blooded murder. Judge Hines proved that there were no bushes or a tree large enough to dodge behind for Mr. Johnson's alleged purpose. There is no tree nearer than 30 yards, or more, from the spot where the shooting took place. Court then adjourned until 1:30 for lunch.

At 1:30, promptly, court reconvened. Colonel E. W. Jordan taking the stand for the prosecution. He, like Colonel Wright, tried to impeach the testimony or statement made by Mr. Johnson.

Judge Burwell's Rebuttal.

Judge Burwell, taking the stand in rebuttal, took up the evidence from the beginning of the trial, telling of the cause of the expulsion of T. J. Kelly, Jr., from the school. He told of young Kelly coming on or near the school ground, and when Professor Johnson remonstrated young Kelly made faces and walked on whistling.

He said that on the morning of the shooting, Johnson went, as was his custom, to the postoffice for his mail, and when on his return to the school he was accosted with an oath by Dr. Kelly, who made a hostile movement towards his hip pocket, how he drew his own revolver and fired three shots; how he was fired on by someone, and of his giving himself up to the sheriff.

Court then adjourned until 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, when Congressman T. W. Hardwick will finish the prosecution for the state, and the jury will be charged. Excitement runs high in Tennille and Washington county tonight, and the whole state awaits with eagerness the verdict of the jury.

CITY OF DALTON JOINS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Secretary Wakefield Addresses Meeting on Purposes of State Organization.

Dalton, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) Dalton has at last organized a chamber of commerce. The coming of Secretary Wakefield, of the state chamber, brought the latent energy and enthusiasm of Dalton to a head, and the result is that within the course of a few days Dalton will have a real first-class working body to look after her civic and industrial interests.

At the meeting this morning, presided over by Mayor Paul B. Trammell, the city of Dalton became a member of the state chamber. The Dalton Chamber of Commerce also became a member, as did several other private citizens and firms. The response was so quick and generous as to bring forth some cheerful remarks from Secretary Wakefield, who said he "had been in over one hundred towns and cities in Georgia, and they all had become members, but none of them had done so so promptly and generously and cheerfully as Dalton."

B. A. Tyler was elected temporary chairman and F. T. Reynolds temporary secretary, and they were instructed to get all of the matters in shape and be ready to report at some meeting in the near future.

CRIPPLE BOY MAKES GOOD; RETURNS MONEY ADVANCED

JOHN D. CARTER,
Who was furnished with money by the Associated Charities to buy tricycle. He is now making a good living and has paid back money.

John D. Carter, a criple boy whom the Atlanta Associated Charitits aided several months ago by lending him the money to buy a hand-propelled tricycle has just finished paying back to that organization every penny that was advanced to him, and in the meantime has succeeded in establishing himself in work which enables him not only to be self-supporting but also to help a needy sister.

Carter, though terribly handicapped by his physical condition, had learned the shoe-maker's craft and had a little shop on Decatur street, but found it well nigh impossible to obtain reular patronage because of his inability to go out for trade and deliver his work when it was finished.

Over $25 was raised by the Associated Charities to purchase Carter a little tricycle, equipped with hand-levers. He entered into no obligation to pay back the sum except that he promised to return it if he could.

But no sooner had he acquired the little machine than he began to scour the streets of Atlanta in search of work, and so increased his trade that he not only made a living, but managed to put by enough from day to day to gradually pay back the sum advanced him.

His shop is at 572 Decatur street.

You cannot afford to go home from the mountains and spend the month of September in Central and South Georgia cities. The most ideal place in Georgia to spend the month of September is at the famous Warm Springs, Meriwether County. It will be kept open until October or longer. Stop by on your way home and stay a week or two; cool climate, clean and beautiful grounds; 1,250 feet above the sea and the finest swimming pool and baths in the United States.

MACON DENTISTS PEN BLACK LISTS

Aching Molars Unrelieved for Those Who Are Slow of Pay.

Macon, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) The dentists of Macon are organizing to protect themselves against people of poor credit. Each dentist in the city has framed a list of undesirable customers, those who are slow of pay or will not pay at all, and these will be interchanged. This action on the part of the dentists is coincident with the determination of scores of merchants, as expressed at a meeting of their credit bureau today, to extend credit to only those who afford practically no risk at all. The merchants are hoping to ultimately put their business almost entirely on a cash basis.

Dairy Convention.

Macon, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) Modern methods for conducting the dairy business and the official supervision of dairies operated in the rural districts, as well as those situated in municipalities, were topics discussed today at the semi-annual convention of the Georgia Dairy and Live Stock Association. There are about ninety members in attendance, with President J. D. Price, of Farmington, presiding. At 1 o'clock the visitors were complimented with a barbecue dinner. The speakers today were President Price, Edgar A. Ross and W. S. Brooks, of Macon; Professors J. E. Hite, J. W. Hart and M. P. Jarnagin, of the State College of Agriculture; Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, Dr. E. M. Nighbert, of Atlanta; W. J. Williamson, of Commerce; C. L. Willoughby, Sandersville, and others. It was declared that within the last year fully 200 farmers had undertaken stock raising as an industry, and it was predicted that the time was not far distant when Georgia will be largely supplied with her own cattle, horses, mules and swine.

Couldn't Stop.

Macon, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) A unique plea was made by John Borders when he was arraigned before the recorder today for speeding. Notwithstanding this, he was convicted and fined.

It is said that the accident was unavoidable.

Cleaning-Up Day.

Macon, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) Within the next two weeks the city will officially inaugurate a "cleaning-up" day, in order to have the streets in fine condition for the state fair. Every park and alleyway will be put in spick-span order, and even the yards and lawns will be required to be cleaned up.

Shot by Falling Pistol.

Macon, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) While running for a street car today, Otis Simpson, of 221 Tattnall street, jostled a pistol from his rear pocket. He was taken to the hospital for treatment, and upon his recovery he will have to answer to the charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Huff Out for Commissioner.

Macon, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) The competition for places on the board of waterworks commissioners, for which three will be chosen at an election on September 20, was further complicated today, when Colonel W. A. Macon, Ga., September 8.—(Special.) Professor J. E. Hite, of the State College of Agriculture, announced, while in Macon today, that he has resigned his office, and will leave in a few weeks for Gallatin, Tenn., where he will enter the stock-raising industry and also farm. He intends now to put into practice what he has been preaching to the farmers of Georgia for several years. Professor Hite is a well-known agricultural expert and his services with the college will be greatly missed.

PRISONERS BURN WAY OUT OF THOMSON JAIL

Thomson, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—This morning about 6:30 o'clock the jail here was found to be on fire. After a quick response of the fire department the flames were soon extinguished, but the prisoners were gone.

Only two prisoners were in the jail. This being court week, all the others had been tried and sentenced. The two negro prisoners, L. Harden and J. Few were sentenced yesterday for life imprisonment, answering the charge of murder.

It is thought the negroes got out of their cells through the carelessness of one of the deputies, and then burned a hole large enough in the front door to escape. This makes the third time the jail has been fired within the past six years. No doubt McDuffie will now have a new jail.

Cleveland, Ohio, September 8.—Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad detectives today reported that a woman giving her name as Mrs. A. A. McCormick, of Chicago, was robbed of a handbag containing $2,200 worth of jewelry last night on a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern passenger train somewhere between Toledo and Cleveland. The robbery took place in the dining car. Stations all along the way have been notified, and the road's detectives are on the lookout for a young man who sat opposite Mrs. McCormick and engaged her in conversation. Victor-Victrola

The element of cost didn't enter into the designing and construction of the first Victor-Victrola. The only object was to produce a musical instrument that was absolute perfection. And the result was a new kind of instrument with a sweeter, richer, mellower tone than was ever heard before.

After that we devoted our energies to securing this unequaled tone in less expensive models. From time to time more popular-priced instruments were added until today the Victor-Victrola is within the reach of all and everybody can enjoy the exquisite music from this greatest of all musical instruments.

EASTERN BANKERS CAUGHT IN WRECK

Birmingham Special On Southern Derailed Near Anniston.

No One Seriously Injured. Wives of Capitalists Had Premonition and Warned Them Not to Go, So They Bought Accident Insurance.

Anniston, Ala., September 8.—(Special.)—Going at a rate of about 40 miles an hour, the Birmingham special passenger train on the Southern road, en route from New York to Birmingham, was wrecked about 4 miles south of this city at 1:40 this afternoon, three cars being almost completely overturned against a small embankment and three others leaving the track, which was plowed for 300 yards. About one hundred passengers were aboard at the time, but excepting a severe shakeup, none was seriously injured.

The wreck was caused by the tender leaving the track, due, it is believed, to defective rails. The embankment alone prevented fatalities which would certainly have resulted had the cars turned completely over. The train was in charge of Conductor Cox and Engineer Hawes, assisted by Conductor A. E. Coleman.

The wreck took place just south of Grasmead farm, owned by J. W. Wheeler, and attracted scores from this city. The passengers were transferred to a freight and brought to Anniston at 4 o'clock, an hour and thirty minutes after the wreck.

Capitalists Aboard.

Among the passengers aboard were a party of eastern capitalists in the special car "Andalusia." This party represents Morris Brothers, bankers, of New York and Philadelphia. They were en route to Birmingham to inspect the Birmingham, Ensley and Bessemer Steam and Electric Railway, which is being constructed by Morris Brothers & Co. The party was in charge of P. S. Briggs, manager, of Philadelphia.

A human interest feature to the wreck is related by Messrs. Briggs and Lester, who state that they were begged by their wives not to come on the trip, as there would be a wreck. Acting on this premonition, they say, they purchased accident insurance before starting on the trip. All members of the Briggs party were in the diner when the tender of the rear engine jumped the track.

The conductor on the diner was first to apprehend the disaster, and jumping from his seat, he jerked the emergency bell cord, stopping the train, not in time, however, to avert a serious jolt to the passengers.

A Miss Thomas, who had just left a Baltimore hospital, and a girl with typhoid fever and Miss Florence Young, daughter of A. F. Young, of Birmingham, were the greatest sufferers, the others hardly being scratched. Miss Thomas is now in a local hospital under influence of opiates.

The trucks of six cars are demolished, windows broken and other damage done, while the track is twisted into mass for several yards, the ties being torn into kindling wood. Wreckers are now at work at the scene.

All east and westbound trains are being detoured via Rome, Ga. The Briggs party left tonight in a special train of box cars for Birmingham.

WON'T ABANDON NAVAL STATIONS

Officers Declare There Is No Intention to Dismantle Florida Posts.

Washington, September 8.—There is no intention of abandoning the Key West, Fla., naval station, according to high officers of the navy. Consequently, it is added, the navy department will not view with favor any suggestion for the abolition of Key West barracks and Fort Taylor, the army posts erected to protect the naval station in case of war. Brigadier General Mills, commanding the department of the gulf, has recommended to the war department the wiping out of those works of defense in case the navy department was willing to close Key West naval station.

Naval experts regard Key West as a point of paramount strategic importance. In case of war it would be a most convenient place of supply for the fleet in the Caribbean sea, which, in all probability, would be the theater of any future fight. Also, Key West would be the base of the auxiliary vessels, where gunboats and torpedo craft could be quickly repaired. Key West will not be abandoned, it is emphatically declared by the officers who know.

MOROCCAN QUESTION SOURCE OF UNEASINESS

French Cabinet Is Digesting Germany's Counter Proposals.

Berlin, September 8.—Developments in the Moroccan negotiations are not expected while the French cabinet is digesting Germany's counter proposals relative to the question, and while France's answer thereto is in the course of preparation.

Uneasiness persists among the uninformed public.

A meeting of commercial firms interested in Morocco, held today at Hamburg, passed resolutions urging the German foreign office to insist on adequate economic guarantees from France, as experience has shown that the formal assurances of that country were worthless.

Paris, September 8.—The French foreign minister, M. De Selves, declines to give the slightest indication as to the nature of Germany's counter proposals relative to the Moroccan dispute. From an authoritative source the "impression" issues that the differences between the French and German points of view still are considerable.

Emory College Offers the BEST at Minimum Cost

The total cost of a year at EMORY COLLEGE is as low as that of any other first-class college on the continent—lower than most.

EMORY does not offer "free tuition." Its authorities have never deemed it wise to weaken the teaching force in order to do this.

But board, which is a much larger item in a college course than tuition, is so low in Oxford, and the expenses arising from the social surroundings of the college are so small, that the annual expenditures of a student at EMORY are far less than at other institutions of similar rank.

These are facts of the utmost importance to prospective students and to parents who are concerned with the expense proposition of a college course for their sons.

Remember, too, that the homelike and correct moral atmosphere of the boarding places open to EMORY students is worth a great deal. The physical comfort of the boys is well provided for, but all that is best and most wholesome in the "simple life" is stressed.

Details and full information will be furnished upon application.

TOLD TO PREPARE FOR A WALKOUT

Warnings Sent 35,000 Shopmen of Harriman Lines.

Labor Officials Say There Is a Possibility of Trouble, Though It Is Not Imminent. International Officers Hold a Secret Conference at Frisco.

Chicago, September 8.—Aside from the announcement that Illinois Central shopmen had been notified by their union to hold themselves in readiness for a strike, there was no developments in the railroad labor situation here today.

Union officials maintained, however, that the issuance of the warning to the employees did not necessarily portend a strike. The officials said inasmuch as a walkout is a possibility they thought it best to have the men prepared. Now that the order has gone, they said, the shops can be cleared in a few hours if it becomes necessary.

According to W. F. Kramer, chairman of the executive board, which has the local situation in hand, there is little likelihood of any further action by his committees until it meets Sunday afternoon. The situation will be discussed thoroughly then, and it is expected definite action will be taken.

ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY AT BAPTIST TABERNACLE

FLOODS KILL THOUSANDS AND RUIN RICE CROP

Hankow, China, September 8.—Yang-tse river floods which transformed hundreds of miles of the Yang-tse valley into an enormous lake and caused a great loss of life, are gradually subsiding.

In addition to the heavy death list, many thousands of the natives have been made homeless and destitute.

The rice crop in the provinces of Hupeh and Hunan probably will be an average one, but other cereals have suffered heavily.

The rice crop in Ngan-Hawoi, another province watered by the Yang-tse river, is of an exceptionally poor quality.

SISTER OF MOISANT BREAKS A RECORD

Hempstead, N. Y., September 8.—Miss Matilda Moisant, sister of the dead aviator, John B. Moisant, ascended in her monoplane here this afternoon to a height of nearly 1,000 feet. It is believed to be the greatest altitude ever reached by a woman aviator. An added feature was the fact that the flight was made in a puffy wind, which impelled other aviators to advise Miss Moisant not to make the attempt.

Singing Service—On Monday night at Big Bethel church, there will be singing in Italian, Greek, Syrian and Chinese, also interpretations in different languages by Professor Calvin Mitchell, the linguist, the greatest colored foreign singer in America. He will be supported by a good quartet and instrumental solos. A goor program will be rendered. The proceeds will be for the benefit of Big Bethel conference claims. There will be reserved seats for white people. Admission, adults 15 and 25 cents; children 10 cents.

Hurt by Street Car.—In exactly seven minutes after he had been hurt in a street car accident at the corner of Central avenue and Garnett street yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, T. H. Spain, aged about 60 years, was in the Atlanta hospital, ready for necessary treatment of slight wounds. Spain was driving a wagon across the Garnett street crossing on Central avenue. A Central avenue car, going south, struck the vehicle, throwing the driver out on the pavement, head first. An ambulance was summoned from the Greenberg & Bond establishment, and within 7 minutes after call had been sent in, Spain was at the hospital.

Great Was His Fall.—Morris Macks, the attorney, became very much engrossed yesterday morning in his speech to the jury in the criminal court of Atlanta. He began with enthusiasm and as he proceeded in his argument he waxed more eloquent. He edged nearer and nearer to the witness stand. He failed to notice his proximity to the frail box which is used to enable a witness to step into the chair. In the midst of his speech he managed to land on that frail box, and great was the fall of the attorney. He was so entangled in the wreck of the treacherous box that he could not arise until two energetic friends had scraped away the wreckage. He resumed his argument, however, just where he had left off.

His Horrible Dream.

(From The Chicago Record-Herald.)

"Weary, wake up!" said Limping Lem, shaking his fellow-traveler's shoulder. "Wake up! Wot's de matter wit youse?"

"Huh?" asked Weary, half opening his eyes.

"Wot's de matter wit youse? You been havin' de nightmare?"

WEEPING BABES IN ROME DEPOT WERE REAL MARRIED COUPLE

Rome, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—First he cried and then she cried, then they loved. That was the order of events between a couple at the East Rome depot as dusk came on Thursday night. They looked like children, yet they loved like married folks and freshly married at that.

The circumstances were so unusual that W. H. Collins, a kind hearted Roman, who happened to be at the depot, inquired the cause of the weeping. He was informed between sobs by the youthful couple separately and in unison that they had run away from their home at Alabama City "and it was a good home," broke in the boy, and got themselves married. He said they were alright until they lost their money in some way and had but 75 cents left.

Out of this small sum Mr. Collins said the youth had bought his bride 25 cents worth of candy. The girl was still in short dresses up to her knees andlooked not over 12 years old while the boy was not much her senior. They were gotten out of their predicament by Mr. Collins who staked them to the price of two tickets back home with the advice that they stay there in future.

YOUNG REAM AWAITS PATERNAL BLESSING

New York, September 8.—Paternal blessing is the only thing needed today to complete the happiness of Louis M. Ream and his bride, who was Eleanor Pendleton, once of the stage chorus.

Norman B. Ream, the father, one of the big men of the steel corporation, and former partner of the late Marshall Field, of Chicago, learned for the first time yesterday that his son, only three years out of college, had been married since September 1. Young Ream is assistant secretary of a trust company here. His bride, whose real name was Davidson, formerly lived in Richmond and Baltimore. Mr. Ream, the elder, is at his country home in Thompson, Conn.

Thompson, Conn., September 8.—"I have nothing to say," said Norman B. Ream, at his summer home here today, with regard to the marriage of his son, Louis M. Ream, of New York, and Eleanor Pendleton, a former chorus girl.

MAYOR IS HELD FOR BRIBERY

Also Nine Members of the City Council of Gary, Indiana.

Gary, Ind., September 8.—Mayor Thomas E. Knotts, five of the nine members of the city council, the city engineer, W. A. Williston, and a son of one of the aldermen, were arrested today on charges of having accepted and solicited bribes in a heating franchise deal. The arrests were made on complaint of T. B. Dean, of Richmond, Ky., to whom the franchise was granted, and who said he had given evidence of the attempted bribery to attorneys in Chicago, before the money was transferred.

At the same time steps were taken in Chicago to protect funds said to be involved in the deal and said to be deposited in a safety deposit vault there. This money, Dean said, was given by him to a councilman, placed in an envelope and signed by Dean and each of the men involved, each keeping a key until the deal was completed.

Largest and Best Line of

Metal Shingles In the World

No man who gives careful thought to the lasting qualities of a roof will use the old style wooden shingle, which soon rots away and must be replaced, or burns up, house and all. Our metal shingles have come into almost universal use because they are durable—ornamental—waterproof, fireproof and trouble proof—eliminate repair costs—reduce insurance rates.

We manufacture by far the best line of metal shingles in the world, and our long experience is shown in the superior merit of our products—we've made a study of metal shingles, and know how to make them right. The various patterns and grades give ample range for a selection that will meet any idea of style or cost.

"NEW CENTURY" Our well-known standard metal shingle, now covering more than 250 acres of roofs. A design that harmonizes with any style of architecture.

"DORIC" A new pattern, made after the strong but chaste lines of Grecian architecture. Very popular with architects and builders who prefer simplicity of design.

"OLD ENGLISH TILE" Another new pattern, and one that permits builders to finish roofs in harmony with English architecture. Embossing is square at bottom as well as at top, giving an appearance that closely resembles Old English tile. Write for Shingle Catalog No. 25.

SOUTHERN ORNAMENTAL METAL CEILINGS

Made in beautiful designs of Louis XIV and Colonial periods. Fireproof, last a lifetime, save insurance, and reduce repair expense to a minimum. Eliminate danger from falling plaster. Illustrated catalog for the asking.

"CAHILL" GRATES—the acme of perfection. Heat producers and fuel savers.

WEIRD SUPPORT BEATS BRITTON

Bases On Balls Also Contribute to Unusual Defeat

Zim Cuts Loose With Home Run, but Wildness of Cracker Pitcher Overcomes Four-Ply Swat of Atlanta Centerfielder.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 8.—(Special.)—Ollie Britton and his support joined in a donation party this afternoon.

Ollie put runners on by bases on balls and his support shoved them around. Chattanooga scored three times off the Cracker pitcher, and not a clean hit was connected with any one of the tallies.

Beumiller and Sykes presented the first counter, while ragged battery work, a poor throw to the plate by Sykes and a small sized regiment of stolen bases were responsible for the other two. Wells and Britton didn't harmonize at one time. Wells with a man on second grew peevish and threw the ball to the shortstop on the ground. He kept in a very bad humor and refused to run out a slow one to Lister in the eighth, which he could have made close. He drew a stern rebuke from Manager Otto on the bench.

Britton was unhittable, practically, but was prohibitively wild. Manager Jordan kept Tommy Atkins warming up all through the game, but when Ollie got by a weird second inning without a run, Otto left him in.

Ollie was invincible from the third to the seventh and then lost the plate again. The game was lost then, before Atkins could be inserted, and that not by Britton's fault.

Northern drew the first of Britton's seven passes in the first, O'Dell scintillated with a one hand stab off Higgins' and got Northern at second. Higgins stole second on a bad throw by Wells. Murch grounded over second.

With feet to spare, Beumiller threw wild to Sykes. The latter got the ball down the line. Higgins dashed for home and scored when Sykes threw to the Atlanta players' bench. Britton issued two more passes following Lister's single in the second, but escaped although Lister and Lejune pulled off a double steal.

The Crackers did not threaten off Hank Keupper, ex-Vol. who made his local debut, until the fourth, when Zimmerman's line drive escaped Lejune for a home run. Occasional hits were sprinkled through the remainder of the game by the Crackers, but Keupper always steadied. A two-sacker by O'Dell in the seventh and a three-sacker by Britton in the eighth came with bases empty. Watson flied out to Northern after the latter but Britton decided not to score. The throw was perfect and would have retired him. Britton passed Lejune in the seventh and Keupper sacrificed. Northern was also passed and Lejune stole third on the fourth ball, Wells throwing low. Northern moved for second and was caught in a chase. In the midst of it, Lejune tried to score.

Sykes' throw was low and while Wells handled it he could not tag the runner. Northern went to third on a passed ball and scored when Watson failed to get under Gandolfi's apparently easy fly to right.

An unusual occurrence happened in the eighth, in that an error by Sykes kept the locals from making a run. Moran walked. Nill lifted an easy foul fly back of first which Sykes muffed. Beumiller then sprung in the lime light with the prettiest fielding play of the day, a stop of a hard smash back of second on which he scored Moran and got Nill at first. If Sykes had caught Nill's fly Lister's three sacker which followed would have scored Moran.

DOUBLE CHECK PROVES KAVANAUGH DOPE WRONG

By Dick Jemison.

After carefully checking back the box scores of the games played in the Southern League from the opening date through the games played Thursday, September 7, the sporting editor arrives at a standing, that, in no other way, agrees with the standing as sent out by President Kavanaugh, of the Southern League, and approved as being correct.

The standing arrived at by the sporting editor is as follows:

Teams.	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
New Orleans	71	51	.582
Birmingham	75	57	.568
Montgomery	70	55	.560
Nashville	66	60	.524
Chattanooga	64	66	.492
Memphis	59	68	.465
Mobile	55	70	.440
Atlanta	48	81	.372

Not satisfied with just a check against the box scores, the writer checked his average books in the team records, arriving at the same figures as stated above.

A third check, made in the same book, but in the column used to show the games won and lost at home and abroad, verified the two other checks and reached the same totals.

In Thursday's Georgian, under the head of "News and Views, Mostly the Latter," Maurice Haas had compiled a set of figures which, when compared with the ones above, are exactly the same. Mr. Haas checked the box scores back and checked his records, arriving at the same result.

Thus it will be seen, that two men, working without any knowledge of the other and arriving at a total from five different sources, reached the same result in each case, proving conclusively that the figures as given above are ABSOLUTELY CORRECT, regardless of any other figures to the contrary.

In Friday's Constitution, Judge Kavanaugh, sending out a set of figures, avows that they are correct. Here are the figures he sent, same including the games played September 6:

Teams.	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
New Orleans	69	49	.585
Birmingham	74	55	.574
Montgomery	68	55	.553
Nashville	66	59	.528
Chattanooga	61	66	.480
Memphis	58	66	.468
Mobile	54	72	.429
Atlanta	49	77	.389

A comparison of the two sets of figures shows them very much at variance. Which set of figures is right is plain to see. The writer will back the figures compiled by himself and Mr. Haas, against the figures as given out by Judge Kavanaugh, or anyone else.

BY WAY OF GOOD MORNING

IT IS BETTER TO HAVE TRIED AND LOST | THAN NEVER TO HAVE TRIED AT ALL

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF

By way of good morning we wish to say goodnight for the Barons. They have been tried and found wanting. With the Pelicans going at their slowest speed, the Baronial tribe has put up an indifferent game against the Pelicans and two battles have gone to Frank that the entire league, with the exception of the city of cocktails and gin fizzes, hoped would go to the metropolis of steel and smoke.

There was a perfectly grand little opportunity for Molesworth and his men to jump in and cop the honors of 1911 when the Pelicans visited Birmingham. Now their chance of finishing better than second is the same as the chance possessed by a certain famous Nebraskan of getting the democratic presidential nomination next year.

The Barons made a brave bid for the pennant. They fought under adverse circumstances. The home papers were hammering Molesworth while he was making his bid. The fans joined the anvil chorus. Then when he was right ready to bring the pork and beans to the family domicile Bert Maxwell went wrong through overwork and it was up to the professor to play Mr. Chopin's most popular production—i. e., his funeral march.

Of course, there is an outside chance that the Pelicans will lose the pennant, but the chance is about as far outside as a hungry man happens to be when he is five cents strong and is peering into the Piedmont cafe. Montgomery looms larger as a pennant contender than Birmingham. In Bailey, Dobbs has about the best hurler in the league. If he works Bailey overtime, there is a possibility that Frank's pennant prospects will pop like a new saddle. Let us hope so. The joy of defeating Frank will make Atlanta forget where the Crackers finished in this good year.

And the Crackers are not in such a bad fix after all. They are just in eighth place. Of course, that's pretty raw, but think of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr. Of course, there are degrees of punishment. When you were young the idea prevailed that about the worst thing that could happen to you would be to be placed across the parental knee and have the hair brush applied judiciously and with force. There is a certain amount of tribulation coming to anyone who goes broke. There is also mental suffering caused by being told to get off a freight train. It is far from pleasant to wake up on the morning after. Likewise, no one can go into ecstacy about finishing in eighth place. But what is eighth place and a toothache compared to occupying a chair while Mr. Edison gets busy? Why, eighth place is as comfortable as a chair beneath the electric fan when the "house" is buying.

The feline family is rapidly going into disrepute. Once upon a time there was a Russian lion. The ferocious lion had its chance and proved as bad as a pink-eyed rabbit. Again, there is a ball club called the Tigers, supposed to be of the man-eating variety. In recent weeks the Tigers have shown about as much combative ability as a can of tomatoes. Maybe some day there will be a team named the Tom Cats that will redeem the honors of the feline family. Until that time though everything of genus cattus must remain in the class with Mr. Jeffries, Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Bat Nelson and others who have failed to come back. Banzai for the water moccasin!

RAILROAD SEASON ENDS SATURDAY

The Railroad League will wind up its 1911 season this afternoon, with four games, though there is a possibility of two teams tieing for first place, and a post-season game being necessary to decide the tie.

The following are the games scheduled for today:

A., B. & A. v. Western Union.
Battle Hill v. R. R. Y. M. C. A.
S. E. F. A. v. Third National Bank

If the Southern Railway Inman Yards team and the Southeastern Freight Association both win, and such a thing is possible, these two teams will be tied for first place.

SOUTH ATLANTIC.

Peaches 2, Foxes 0.

Macon, September 8.—Weems weakened in the eighth inning today after pitching great ball, and Macon won by opportune hitting aided by a wild throw by Fox shoving across the only two runs of the game. Schulze pitched a strong, steady, safe game throughout. The play on both teams was fast at all times.

One of the season's finds is Max Carey, the clever little outfielder of the Pirates, who has deposed Tommy Leach in center field. Max was taken south by the Buccaneers in 1910, but Vincent Campbell beat him out for a position, and he was sent back to the minors for more seasoning.

WOMAN MAYOR SAYS SHE CAN KEEP A SECRET

Hunnewell, Kan., September 8.—"My present duty is to keep a secret, and though a woman, I shall keep it."

This was the reply of Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor, made upon her arrival here today, to all questions concerning the result of her conference in Kansas City, Kan., yesterday with C. W. Trickett, special attorney appointed by Governor W. R. Stubbs to restore peace between the woman executive and her obdurate council of men.

So Hunnewell, for months without an effective government, now awaits the meeting of the council next Monday, when the secret is expected to come out. From Mayor Wilson's confident manner, it is believed the question of dealing with the rebellious council will be solved at that meeting.

SHARP ADVANCE MADE; THEN CAME REALIZING

Cotton Closed Barely Steady at Net Gain of 6 or 7 Points.

New York, September 8.—The first census report of the season showed a record-breaking ginning of new crop cotton up to September 1, but the bulls seemed able to reconcile the figures with their position and, after some early irregularity, there was a sharp advance. Realizing caused a reduction of 6 to 7 points in the late trading and the market closed barely steady, but at a net gain of 4@12 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points on October, but generally 1 point higher and active months were soon 9 to 12 points above the closing figures of yesterday on covering and bull support which had the encouragement of steady Liverpool cables and continued liberal spot sales in the English market. The ginning figures of 771,415 bales exceeded any previous record by about 300,000 bales, but the bulls not only argued that they indicated drought-forced maturity, but also claimed that in connection with the recent steadier ruling of southern spot markets they revealed an adequate trade demand, and while a reaction of 6 or 7 points followed, the early advance as a result of realizing the market turned firmer again before midday. Reports from traveling crop experts indicating severe damage to the crop in the eastern belt from insects in connection with the failure of the big ginning figures to create selling pressure seemed to make a considerable impression on sentiment and demand broadened on the advance, which carried December contracts up to 11.70 and active months generally to a net advance of from 12 to 15 points. Reports of a better trade demand and higher southern spot markets, no doubt, helped the improvement, but leading spot interests were sellers of October here, there was moderate southern selling on a scale up and when early local buyers turned for profits late in the day prices eased off from the best. Weather conditions were generally regarded as satisfactory in the south, but there were numerous private reports of army and boll worms, particularly in parts of Alabama and Mississippi.

Receipts today 37,214 bales, against 20,038 last week and 19,458 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 810, against 269 last year, and at Houston 15,012, against 14,128 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 20 points higher; middling uplands 11.90; middling gulf 12.15; sales 134 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, September 8.—Spot cotton firm, 1-16c up; middling, 11⅝; sales on the spot, 425 bales; to arrive, 550; low ordinary, 8 7-16, nominal; ordinary, 9¼, nominal; good ordinary, 10 11-16; strict good ordinary, 11 1-16; low middling, 11⅜; strict low middling, 11⅝; middling, 11⅞; strict middling, 12; good middling, 12⅛; strict good middling, 12 7-16; middling fair, 12¾; middling fair to fair, 13⅛; fair, 18½, nominal; receipts, 810; stock, 23,590.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 1 to 3 points, on good cables and continued reports of widespread damage by the army worm in north Mississippi and north Alabama, where it was claimed prospects of a large yield have been seriously cut into. The census report, showing 771,000 bales of cotton ginned up to September 1, was about as expected and had little effect on the market, although it was called bearish. After the call, good buying was in evidence, much of it coming from outside sources, and prices were put 6 to 10 points over yesterday's close. Ring traders took profits heavily and at the end of the first half hour of business prices were 2 to 4 points over yesterday's last quotations.

Toward the middle of the morning, heavy buying sprung up and it was said that strong bull interests were in the market. Stop loss orders were reached on the short side and the filling of these helped the market. Official rports showing heavy rains in Oklahoma and the forecast of showery weather everywhere in the cotton belt except Texas were regarded as highly unfavorable and stimulated buying. At noon prices were 12 points over yesterday's close.

In the afternoon session the market was helped by the weekly statistics, which showed larger spinners' takings than expected, the out-of-sight movement being put at 184,000 bales, against 145,000 this week last year and 162,000 this week two years ago.

At 2 o'clock, prices were 14@15 points over yesterday's close.

The market closed steady at a net advance of 6@12 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 8.—Competition for business on fine yarn cotton goods is sharp and new low prices are being named on fine printed goods. Jobbing trade continues of moderate volume, but very steady. The silk trade is a little more active. Local wool markets are quiet.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, September 8.—Close: Cotton spot good business done; prices 16 points higher. American middling fair, 7.96; good middling, 7.67; middling, 7.32; low middling, 7.18; good ordinary, 6.92; ordinary, 6.67. The sales of the day were 10,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 8,800 American. Receipts, 1,200 bales, all American. Futures opened steady and closed steady.

TRADING WAS FEVERISH IN THE STOCK MARKET

The Tendency Was Downward, but at Times There Were Rallies.

New York, September 8.—Trading that was unsettled and at times feverish resulted in fluctuations today on the stock exchange. The tendency was downward, although there were several sharp rallies which temporarily reduced losses. Several issues, including Missouri Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Denver and Rio Grande, preferred, and Amalgamated Copper fell to new low points for the year, and at the low figures of the day elsewhere, virtually the entire gain made during the recent recovery was lost, the active list sinking back to the bottom level of the long August decline.

Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, United States Steel, Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley, New York Central and American Smelting were within fractions of the year's low point. Losses ranged from 1 to 2 points, with a partial recovery at the end. Selling converged largely on Reading and United States Steel. There were evidences of New York selling in the London market, which was depressed before the opening here. London sold about 15,000 shares on balance, chiefly United States Steel and Union Pacific.

Operations were governed, to some extent, by the crop report, the cotton ginning report and the Copper Producers' statement. The heaviest selling of the day followed the publication of the crop figures. The slight improvement in the condition of corn was not more than had been looked for, while the falling off in spring wheat of more than three points was unexpectedly favorable to the bear party. The report of cotton ginning, the first of the season, was exceptionally favorable, disclosing the largest amount on record, and its publication early in the day was followed by a rally in stocks.

Copper shares sold off before publication of the report, and later rallied. The report was considered favorable.

While some surprise was expressed at the increase of more than 13,500,000 pounds in production in August as compared with July, domestic deliveries and exports surpassed expectations. The decrease in stocks brings up the total shrinkage in the last three months to 32,554,000 pounds.

In connection with the heavy selling of United States Steel and the obviously bearish attitude of many traders toward the stock, there was noted today the first slight falling off in steel mill operations compared with the average during August. The United States Steel Corporation was reported to be at present operating about 75 per cent of its capacity, a decline of about 3 per cent.

The call of the comptroller of the currency for reports of national banks as of September 1 disclosed the fact that large New York banks did not reduce their holdings of stock during the August decline as greatly as might have been believed. Notwithstanding the heavy liquidation of stocks, the reports of seven of the largest national banks show a total decrease in holdings of securities between June 7, the date of the previous report, and September 1, of only about $3,400,000. An increase of more than $43,000,000 since September 1, 1910, is shown, the result of heavy output of bonds during the year, in conjunction with easy money condition.

The bond market was heavy. Total sales, par value, $1,862,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

RUSSIAN SHIPMENTS WEAKENED THE MARKET

Wheat Closed One-Quarter Cent Lower to One-Quarter Up.

Chicago, September 8.—Although the government figures on the wheat crop turned out to be bullish, the market here closed easy ¼ cent lowe rto ⅛@¼ cent up. If the Washington report had been available before trading had ended the finish would doubtles have been different. Latest transactions showed corn ¼ to ½ cent under last night; oats down ⅛ to ⅜@½ cent, and hog products varying from unchanged prices to 12½ cent decline.

It was generally expected the condition of spring wheat would be put by the government at about 59 per cent, indicating a crop of 212,000,000 bushels. Instead, the official announcement was 56.7 per cent, indicating the yield would be only 203,000,000 bushels. While waiting for the news from Washington, dealers found business light and fluctuations narrow. Signs of increased shipments from Russia, as well as from India and Argentine, made the opening weak. Later, however, the market hardened a little on account of some foreign buying here. It was also rumored that twenty loads had been sold for export to Antwerp. A contrary influence prevailed, though, in the shape of improved weather northwest, and there was a dragging tendency evident when the gong cleared the pit. During the day December ranged from 96⅝ to 97⅛ cents, with last sales ⅛@¼ cent net lower at 96¾@96⅞.

Corn declined owing to a belief that the government figures on the crop would be increased. December fluctuated between 63⅝@63½ and 64 cents, closing easy ⅜ cent off at 63½@63⅝. Cash grades were steady. No. 2 yellow was quoted at 66@66¼.

Oats were depressed as a result of buyers holding off fearing the effect a bearish report on corn. Top and bottom prices touched by the December option were 46¼ and 45⅝. The close, 45⅞@46, showed a net loss of ¼@⅜.

Selling by big packers tended to put down provisions. In no one case, however, did the decline at the finish exceed 12½ cents.

771,415 BALES GINNED REPORT OF BUREAU

This Is Nearly 300,000 Bales More Than Previous Record in 1905.

Washington, September 8.—The first cotton ginning report of the season, issued today by Director E. Dana Durand, of the bureau of the census, department of commerce and labor, shows that 771,415 bales, counting round as half bales, had been ginned from the growth of 1911 to September 1, compared with 353,011 of the growth of 1910 ginned to September 1, 1910, 388,242 bales for 1909, and 402,229 bales for 1908.

Round bales, including this year are 6,994, compared with 10,976, for 1910, 11,587 for 1909 and 20,862 for 1908.

The number of sea island bales included is 539 for 1911, 218 for 1910, 1,236 for 1909 and 1,221 for 1908.

Comparisons of the number of bales, counting round as half bales, ginned to September 1 for the past four years follow:

States.	1911.	1910.	1909.	1908.
Alabama	40,500	4,196	13,335	26,298
Arkansas	170	28	449	323
Florida	3,764	608	3,542	2,524
Georgia	134,075	20,491	106,301	64,693
Louisiana	7,616	1,101	8,450	4,618
Mississippi	1,849	538	1,670	4,330
North Carolina	1,200	4	1,070	101
Oklahoma	4,205	398	1,370	8
South Carolina	18,907	208	18,940	9,399
Tennessee	5	.....	4	6
Texas	559,114	325,435	237,901	289,928
All other states	1	4	1	1

The ginning of cotton of the growth of 1911 was carried on more actively throughout the cotton belt to September 1 this year than in any similar period in the history of the industry, at least as far as accurate ginning records have been kept. This is shown by the first ginning report of the season compiled by the census bureau from reports of of its correspondents in the cotton growing states. A total of 771,415 bales had been ginned up to a week ago. This is greater by almost 300,000 bales than the previous record made in 1905.

The continued hot and dry weather in a greater portion of the belt, especially in Texas, was chiefly responsible for the increase. These conditions meant the early maturing of the crop, but this alone is considered not the cause of the greater ginning. Farmers have been more active in getting their crop to the ginneries and, it is said, in some counties of Texas, where the bulk of the increased ginning was reported, the entire crop practically already has been ginned.

Little relation appears to exist, according to census bureau experts, between the size of the crop and the quantity of cotton ginned during any period of the season. This is shown in the big crop years of 1904, 1906 and 1908, each of which produced more than 13,000,000 bales. In these years the percentage of the total crop ginned to September 1 was 2.8, 3.1, and 3.1, respectively, while in 1905, when the crop was 10,800,000, 4.5 per cent of it was ginned by September 1. Last year 3.1 per cent of the total crop was ginned to September 1.

WHICH IS BETTER?

TO BUY a house already built, paying a good profit to the one who built it, and has been living in it long enough to enjoy all its freshness, and now sells it to you when it needs repairs; or to build your own home, planned to suit you, enjoying its newness, and make the profit yourself, if you should want to sell? Honestly, which is more sensible? If you want a "hand-me-down" house you can get it, for there are plenty of 'em for sale. But if you want a home, planned to meet your ideas of comfort, see us. That's our business. We build HOMES, not houses.

PUPPY FOUND ALIVE BUT CHILD IS LOST

Chicago, September 8.—A yellow and white puppy, believed to have been the companion of the baby that was seen by two boys floating in a soap box in the drainage canal Wednesday night, was taken from the water last night near Lemont, Ill.

If the dog could talk the police believe it could tell how the other passenger in the soap box—a 2-year-old child—described by the boys, was drowned in the stream.

The puppy had been fighting for life in the water for hours. Its paws were torn and bleeding as if it had made many futile attempts to climb the bank.

Hundreds of searchers who had patrolled the banks of the canal for thirty-six hours determined to maintain the vigil in relays after the puppy was found, but they retained little hope of discovering the child alive.

PASSING SHOW IN REVIEW

A new yellow rose called "The Lady Hillington," is the fad of Newport. It had been seen single on the corsage and in clusters, but Mrs. Pembroke Jones was the first to decorate with them. At a dinner party she gave the past week she used these yellow roses in artistic combination with her gold service and her table was described as a marvel of beauty.

NEW PERFUME IS SUBTLE.

"What wonderful perfume is that?" I asked of one who knows, as I inhaled the subtlest, sweetest of odors and bethought me for the moment of silver moonlight and tender tones and fountains in the distance. "That is the latest French perfume—Le Muguet," I was told, and I reached to inhale it again. Le Muguet is one of those perfumes of concentrated sweetness which the French create. Before Balzac wrote that chapter in the "Lily of the Valley" describing the bouquet the lover selected for his beloved, it is told that the great writer strolled for weeks in the botanical gardens studying the perfume of the flowers and studying their meaning. Each flower in the bouquet he arranged had a meaning and the bouquet served as the only love message he could send. I have no doubt the creator of the new perfume, "Le Muguet," extracted the sweetness from many flowers, blended them and made the subtle sweet perfume of this new one.

Sharing honors and favor with this new perfume is "Mi Nina," which refreshes in its sweetness and makes one reach out to plunge in rather than to put just the one drop on the mouchoir—"Mi Nina" has just a note of sandalwood in it. Then there comes like a ravishing bouquet of enchantress carnations, the "Mary Garden" perfume.

It is the favorite now with the American woman and is so sweet in its heaviness one cannot but pander to the sensuousness of the perfume.

NOT "COFFEE AND ROLLS," BUT "GOLF BALLS."

"I suppose your wife is having her coffee and rolls in her room?" was said to a well-known Georgian when met in the elevator of the hotel at 8 in the morning.

"No, indeed," was the reply. "She has been out with her golf sticks and balls for an hour. We came up from Macon, and she explained to me she could not miss golf for even one morning, so at 7 she had made an engagement with a friend, and is busy at the game this minute.

"Golf is a great reformer, in a way, to women," continued the husband. "My wife would have considered it a hardship a year ago to be told she had to be up at 8 in the morning and out somewhere taking exercise.

"Now, she does not mind getting up at 5 o'clock, and, getting in her automobile, is at the Country Club in a few minutes and at the game. It is the best tonic in the world, and I am for golf for the women."

MRS. HARRIS WRITES ANOTHER STORY.

The third story of Miss Lundy Harris is in the hands of her publishers, and is being eagerly anticipated by her countless admirers. The title is "Angel," and the plot and scenes are taken from the vicinity of her old home, Farm Hill plantation, Elbert county, Georgia. Not long ago the illustrator of the book visited the scenes, and, with manuscript in hand, studied the situation to inspire the illustrations. He told several interesting incidents relative to his work. One of these reflected on the vivid descriptive powers of Mrs. Harris.

In the book she describes a certain pasture which was the abiding place of a certain bull which was a terror to the neighborhood. The artist and his wife read this chapter together before his departure for Farm Hill, and the chapter had so impressed itself on the wife of the artist that, as he was leaving, she said in trembling tones: "Dear, please be careful when you come to that pasture where the bull is. Just sketch him from what you can see over the fence."

HER IDEA OF CIVICS.

An Atlanta lady soliciting subscriptions for a magazine on civics recently had some very amusing experiences. To one lady whom she visited she explained that the magazine was in the interest of civic betterment; that it was being indorsed by a number of Atlanta women interested in this subject.

"No," said the lady positively; "I am not in the least interested in civics; these ladies would do far better if they would see to cleaning up the city and making it better, and more healthy." It would be interesting to know just what this lady thinks is the meaning of the word civics. She probably conflicts the meaning of the word with "eugenics" or "suggestive therapeutics."

MRS. HINMAN WRITES OF TYROL CAPITAL.

Described by Mrs. Hinman for The Constitution.

We left Salzburg early in the morning just as the sun was beginning to throw a soft rosy light over the mountain tops—just such a rosy hue must the goddess Venus have diffused when she met her son Aeneas as he approached the realms of Queen Dido of Carthage.

The way took us through the most beautiful of Alpine mountain scenery. The railway follows for a distance the windings of the swift river through a gorge just wide enough for them both to squeeze in between the tall mountains on either side. Now and then we caught sight of a stream coming down to feed the river, and through a rift in the mountain we saw a waterfall with the branches of the trees overshadowing it wrapped in ice from the mists of the water.

Higher and higher we climbed, and the frozen moisture on the windows showed how cold the air outside was. The train burrowed into a long tunnel, and as it emerged once more into the open we found ourselves on the other side of the mountain, with the sun shining so brightly as to dazzle us. Then we climbed down again, and saw in the distance a castle on the edge of a cliff and several church spires, surrounded by clusters of houses, nestled in the mountain side, little villages and beautiful summer homes. And so we came to the narrow defile in the mountains which surround Innsbruck, and at last to the town itself, in the very heart of the Tyrolese Alps, beautifully situated on both banks of the River Inn (Innsbruck means "bridge over the Inn") with towering mountains on all sides.

If you were to walk down the Maria Theresian street on a dark night you might bump your nose on a mountain, so close are they to the city. Innsbruck looks as though the earth had been scraped up and piled in vast heaps and the city planted in the middle.

It is only relatively speaking that it is in a hollow, for it is 1,880 feet above the level of the sea, higher than Lucerne or Interlaken and many other places which we always think of as very high indeed.

The Inn of the Golden Eagle.

We are stopping at "Der Gasthaus zum Goldenen Adler," the Inn of the Golden Eagle, more distinguished for the guests who have stopped here than for its cuisine. It was from one of the windows of this inn that Andreas Hofer made his famous speech on the night of August 15, 1807, after the great victory of the Tyrolese at Berg Isel. We are occupying the very room, a large fine corner room, and may look from the very same window. Our adjoining room has an old painting of Joseph the Second, with a card stating that on July 9, 30 and 31, of 1777, he occupied this room and gave audience to several of his generals. Directly across from us is the room occupied by the poet Goethe in 1790.

The walls of the little wine room on the first floor are hung with sketches of many artists who have enjoyed the friendly cosiness of the room and have left behind them these tokens of appreciation, among them a Franz Defregger. There are oil portraits, too, of many poets and crowned heads who have sat in the room. Heine, Gothe, Schiller, Napoleon, Gustave the Third of Sweden, Ludwig the Second of Bavaria, Joseph the Second of Austria, and an especially fine large one of Andreas Hofer, the hero of the Tyrol, mingled with autographs and quaint inscriptions. Considering the relationship which many of them bore to each other in life, it is a wonder they do not get up in the night and eat each other up like the calico dog and gingham cat we read about—or was it the gingham cat and the calico dog? But no such terrible deed has been committed, and they hang peacefully side by side. The entrance hall to the inn is long and narrow and low, with a plastered ceiling like a gothic cathedral, and at the farther end the ceiling suddenly ends and leaves the last few feet of hall open to the sskylight. Here, a little to one side, is an altar, with a large crucifix above it. My seat in the dining room was the favorite one of the distinguished artist, Franz Defregger, and his portrait hangs above us. Our host and his wife come in each meal time and ask us in friendly manner if we are enjoying ourselves, and our maid as she places the soup at our plates at noon says "Wunscht gut zu speisen" (may you eat well), in the familiar Tyrolese fashion, and the maids and the men servants (also in Tyrolese fashion) appear frequently for tips, and all (including mine host and his his wife) will accompany us to the carriage as we leave and bid us "adieu" and wish us a pleasant journey. Such friendliness in a foreign land is quite worth the small amount given out in tips. On the whole it is not such a bad place to stay, and then we have such distinguished companions of the past.

SCHULER SISTERS PAY $400 FINE FOR SMUGGLING

Baltimore, September 8.—Convinced of the truthfulness of their story that they were persuaded by merchants abroad to spend so much money that they had none left to pay duties, Deputy Collector Ryan today released three women from Cincinnati, detained here on a charge of smuggling.

It was alleged that they attempted to smuggle about $200,000 worth of jewelry and other dutiable goods into the country. The three women are Misses Anna, Marie and Carrie Schuler, sisters, and they had arrived from Germany. They signed an agreement to pay $400 fine.

The Misses Schuler pleaded ignorance of the law, averring that their information, obtained from the merchants who sold them the goods, was that the duty would be so small as to make any declaration unnecessary.

Coffee.

New York, September 8.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 7@13 points, on a continuation of the near months covering movement, higher European cables and reports that the weather in Brazil had been unfavorable for the first flowering. Business was moderately active early and prices held the initial advance until late in the day when there was considerable realizing, as well as some selling for a reaction, under which the market eased off from the best. The close was steady, net 2 points lower to 9 points higher. The early advance carried the near months up to new high records and continued disputes over the grades of coffee tendered on contract, suggested rather a strained position in September, but the fall months were relatively easy at the close. Sales, 100,500 bags.

Owing to holidays there were no official cables from Brazil. Havre was 1 to 1¼ higher early, but lost ½ franc of the advance. Hamburg closed ¾ higher. New York warehouse deliveries yesterday, 9,282 bags, against 22,492 last year. Spot steady; Rio No. 7, 13⅝; Santos, No. 14¾; mild quiet; Cordova, 14¼@16, nominal. Futures ranged as follows:

Sugar and Molasses.

New York, September 8.—The price of refined sugar was marked up another 10 points today, with granulated quoted at 6.60 cents per pound, owing to the continued and sensational strength of the raw sugar situation, higher foreign markets and reiterations of unfavorable crop reports.

Review of Sugar Market.

New York, September 8.—The sugar trade is fast becoming reconciled to the inevitable and takes the daily new high record for raws and refined as a matter of course. Refiners have been fighting the rise since its inception, and yet 5¾c was paid for Cubans this week by a local independent, clearing the market of that figure. With raw sugar up 39 points for the week, it is not surprising that refined sympathetically advanced 35 points, since otherwise the margin profit would be too small. Distributors are compelled to buy for their needs, but refiners are not anxious to take much business, being, as a rule, fully three weeks behind in delivery. In two cases the lack of raw sugar has completed withdrawal from the market, and from present indications there may be a general closing down in October. Inquiries have been made in London relative to shipments of beet sugar, but Europe apparently needs the available supplies, since no ready response was forthcoming. The dearth of sugar could not come at a much worse time of the year, for cheap fruit causes an active demand for preserving purposes, September being usually a very active month. In October, domestic beet sugars will be moving freely, while by the first of November the big crop of Louisiana should be available for refiners' meltings.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, September 8.—Cotton trading this week was swayed by generally favorable crop accounts, continued selling by southern producers, predictions of extremely bearish ginning returns on one hand and persistent reports of insect damage, more encouraging reports from the British and western dry goods trades and a belief of growing demand for nearby deliveries of spot cotton from the south. Prices have risen.

Merchants' stocks of dry goods are admittedly low. Reports of insect damage in Mississippi and Alabama are increasing daily. There were the usual complaints of rust and shedding.

The keynote of the bullish view is that mills are willing to take part of their requirements on all moderate recessions of prices. This buying has caused heavy covering by big shorts. These conditions, with short covering and considerable long buying by the public have served to advance prices. However, the bulk of the crop and weather advices have continued favorable, while the south has persistently sold futures.

Trade demand, crop damage reports and short coverings have sufficed to advance prices 8 to 19 points since Friday last. October has advanced less than other months, owing to hedging sales of that position by spot interests and by the south.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEWED.

What Commercial Agencies Say About Business.

New York, September 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say that steady improvement in business conditions is indicated by most reports coming from leading industries and from trade centers. The enlarged operations in pig iron are indicated by returns covering the production during August, which rose 133,569 tons. Most of last month's expansion was due to the increased turnover of the leading interest, whose bookings and shipments in that period were heavier than in any preceding month this year. In the finished lines the existing price situation induces consumers generally to confine purchases to actual needs. Competition for new business has become very keen and buyers accordingly find it easier to obtain concessions. The wire trade reflects reduced activity, but in the structural division many mills have enough work to keep them fully occupied for several months.

An improved demand for dry goods is noted both in the primary markets and by jobbing houses. Retailers purchase steadily for current needs, especially of novelties, specialties and of goods required for fall distribution, but there is little activity for future delivery. Export trade is improved. Prints sent abroad during August were in large amounts. Printers are finding trade better, drills and sheetings are firm and colored cottons in moderate demand. Ginghams, however, are quiet and bleached cottons are being ordered from hand to mouth. Woolen and worsted mills report better inquiry and stock goods are being called for steadily. Fall underwear is selling more freely. Taken altogether the market shows a tendency to broaden in a moderate way.

Trade in footwear shows further improvement, but buyers still display conservatism and purchase only such quantities as readily can be moved. Trade in leather continued to improve slowly and prices are somewhat firmed. Upper leather is firm, although some concessions are reported in combination tannages of calf skins.

Further activity has developed in packer hides and advances ranging from 1-4 to ½c have been secured. Common varieties of Latin-American dry hides are ½c per pound lower.

Failure Announced.

New York, September 8.—The failure of L. B. Wilson & Co., a small Wall street brokerage firm, was announced this afternoon at the Consolidated Stock Exchange.

News of the impending failure caused the culmination yesterday of sensational reports that a large sum had been stolen from a well-known firm of brokers. L. B. Wilson declared after the announcement that his financial embarassment is due to his partner, B. Ferguson, who disappeared a few days ago. Besides being under heavy indebtedness to the firm, Mr. Wilson charged, Ferguson had falsified accounts.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 8.—According to the census bureau, 771,000 bales were ginned to September 1, or 300,000 more than any other record for the same period. Strangely enough, the traders, after the first few minutes, considered these figures to be bullish, as showing that spinners had taken so freely from this very large quantity that there had been no pressure upon the market. In addition to this view, some reports of serious damage to the crop from the army worms in northern Mississippi and northern Alabama, assisted in carrying the market up some 14 points, closing steady at 8 points higher than yesterday. The south did not buy on the advance, but slowly sold. Few buying orders were received from the worm-invested locality. Improvement in crop conditions is reported from Texas. The trade is looking for Europe to follow the advance and to be 3 points higher tomorrow.

tickets to any entertainment or ball, or to pay for space in any book, programme, periodical or publication.

I wonder why this law was ever passed by the Legislature. Do the legislators want candidates for office to CONFINE THEMSELVES wholly to the kind of advertising they get through parades and brass bands and fireworks, and speeches from platforms or the tail end of carts?

If I understand the law correctly a newspaper advertising man is not permitted to approach a candidate for office for the purpose of PERSUADING HIM TO ADVERTISE his qualifications for the office he seeks.

What an absurdity!

Suppose a man—a GOOD man—seeks to be elected Mayor of Trenton!

WHY SHOULD HE NOT BE ASKED TO ADVERTISE in Trenton newspapers? If some live newspaper man should be able to make a suggestion to him how to ADVERTISE ADVANTAGEOUSLY, and he wanted to do so, why should the newspaper man be subject to punishment?

As a matter of fact, if the greater part of the money expended for campaign purposes was used in buying STRAIGHT OUT ADVERTISING in NEWSPAPERS — ADVERTISING THAT APPEALED TO THE GOOD SENSE OF THE PEOPLE—there would be less disturbance at election time, and the people would go to the polls quietly and vote for the man who had MOST IMPRESSED them, and then the man elected, nine times, out of ten, would be the best man for the office.

East Lake Drive!

The best opportunity to make money around Atlanta right now is in buying frontage on or near East Lake Drive.

This road is being paved all the way through Druid Hills to the Country Club; when finished, it will be one of the most attractive drives out of Atlanta.

Land along this road is now very cheap, and can be bought on reasonable terms. Next spring it can be sold again at a decided advance.

WENDENBURG IS ELECTED

Richmond, Va., September 8.—Further returns received this morning from yesterday's democratic primary (equivalent to an election) indicate that last night's estimated majority of 30,000 for Senators Martin and Swanson over their opponents, Congressmen Jones and Glass, will not be reduced more than 1,000 by complete returns.

The so-called "organization" is rejoicing today in the victory of its leaders and is busy analyzing the legislative results.

A surprise feature of the returns is the defeat of Rosewell Page, of Hanover, brother of Thomas Nelson Page, by W. B. Walton for the house of delegates by 100 majority. An incident remarked upon is the election to the state senate of Louis O. Wendenburg, associate prosecuting attorney in the Beattie case, to the state senate in spite of his inability to make a campaign because of the trial. Judge J. M. Gregory, prosecuting the Beattie case, was defeated for the office of commonwealth's attorney.

OPEN REBELLION IS THREATENED

that the men in the railway mail service are in a state of mind verging on open rebellion.

They don't dare chirp. The only thing they can do is quit, and most of them have been in the service so long they cannot do that. They are afraid even to join their fraternal organization. Inspectors watch their every move.

It is stated reliably that what is true of the railway mail service is true to a lesser extent with regard to the postoffice work in the city.

"There is not an executive over there who dares do a single thing not stipulated without consulting a certain inspector,'" The Constitution's informant declared. "He is in charge of the office and ranks everybody except the postmaster general. His word is law to the highest, as well as the lowest.

"If the prevailing condition of affairs continue," declared the gentleman who gave The Constitution the above information, "the public will have to take the matter in charge, for the mail service will be ruined."

YOUTH IS FOILED IN ROBBERY ATTEMPT

Laurel, Md., September 8.—A masked man entered the Citizens' National bank here today, and at the point of a pistol demanded that the receiving teller hand ocer the money lying at the desk beside him.

The would-be robber was forced to flight before he could secure the money by Cashier Waters, who fired two shots at the fleeing man.

The hold-up man was captured later. He admitted his guilt. He gave his name as Henry Jackson, 17 years old, and said his home was in Yuma, Ariz.
